DETROIT, Feb. 6.—Hoping to effect a settlement yet this week-end, the automobile strike peace conference resumed today with President Roosevelt exerting what Gov. Frank Murphy described as "most helpful influence."

The sessions, marking the fourth day John L. Lewis, C.I.O. chief and William S. Knudsen, G.M. executive vice president have faced each other over the conference table, were 45 minutes late in getting under way.

Lewis is glum, arrived on the stroke of 10 and went into the office of Recorder Judge Frank Murphy, where the momentous conference is being held, without making any comment. Gov. Murphy was the next to arrive, and he appeared weary and tired.

Knudsen appeared at 10:45 A.M. and the meeting got underway immediately.

Sources close to the principals indicate they expected another long session today. Gov. Murphy, it was learned on the highest authority, hoped to affect a final peace soon.

Girl Flees Sit-Down
Love Strike Suitor

(International News Service)
EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 6.—Informed by a telegram from his 20-year-old sweetheart, Miss Florence Hurlbut, that she had arrived in New York, Harold Hulen, 35, today called off his nearly three-day-old "sit-down" strike for love.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 6.—Harold Hulen, 35, the sit-down love striker, was "stood up" today. He still sat clamped to a radiator, chuckling because he believes his "sit-down strike" finally will force the girl to say "yes" to his proposal of marriage.

But the girl, Florence Hurlbut, 20, chuckled even louder, for all unknown to the love striker, she was reported winging her way by plane to New York, and a possible stage career.

Harold forgot that love could take wings. He has forgotten it so completely today, as he neared his 70th hour of love strike sitting, he seemed never to suspect that the object of his two-year courtship had flown.

Sit-Downer Moves.

The suitor overcame his love's first subterfuge last night. He learned about 10:30 p. m. that Miss Hurlbut, outside whose apartment door he sat chained to the radiator, had left for the home of her uncle, T. E. Crawford.

Supreme Court
Justices Silent

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Outwardly unperturbed over President Roosevelt's supreme court reform plan, the nine justices gathered today for a four-hour conference on matters before the court.

The court will hold a decision period on Monday before it begins hearing argument on constitutionality of the railway labor act and the National Labor relations law of the Roosevelt administration.

Justices George H. Sutherland, who is beyond the 70 year limit and Justice Owen J. Roberts, who is under the age limit, were the first to reach the marble temple which houses the court.

No Comment

"No, of course not," said Justice Sutherland, smiling, when he was asked for comment on the president's message.

Justice Roberts, deferring to the elder justice, smiled a "no" to the same question.

Chief Justice Hughes let it be known through attaches that he would refuse all requests for comment on the president's message.

"Justice Van Devanter asks to be excused from any comment," was the message sent by the justice in reply to a request for comment.

An attaché of justice Butler said, "I haven't heard any comment myself, and I am sure that there will be none."

The same message was received from other justices, Justice Brandeis, chief member of the court, has had an invariable rule since he went on the bench, to give no interviews.

Erie Woman's Leap Called Suicide

John H. Elliott, new assistant manager of the Shenango Works of the Carnegie-Illinois-Steel company, who was appointed to this responsible post on Monday, is now filling this position in the same able manner that has characterized his work with the company since joining it in 1919.

Mr. Elliott entered the employ of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company at Pittsburgh in September, 1919, and was assigned to the engineering department. In May 1926, he came to the Shenango Works from Pittsburgh as combustion engineer and on April 30, 1932, was named superintendent of the annealing department. Last August he was named acting master mechanic, which position he filled until this week, when he was appointed assistant general superintendent.

Flood Fund With All Re-

Yield Over $13,000

Receipts from last night's Community Party, in the Cathedral, are expected to total $3,500, when all returns are in, and will place the quota for Lawrence County well over the top, officials of the Lawrence County Chapter reported this morning.

By actual count, 3,400 people passed through the turnstiles at the party last evening, and when all returns are in from the ticket sales, it is expected to reveal at least a thousand more tickets were sold than were used.

Receipts from the sale of candy, refreshments, and from dancing, bingo, cards, fortune telling and other diversions which were presented in connection with the party, it is believed, will bring the total receipts for the evening up to $3,500.

Those who attended spent an enjoyable evening, and in addition helped along a worthy cause.

Good Program

The entertainment presented in the auditorium was alone worth the price of admission. Under the direction of director Ben Shulansky, and his assistant, Harry Hammond, with Tom Kersley as master of ceremonies, a varied musical program of high calibre was presented by the WPA orchestra, assisted by Michael Turko, tenor soloist. Jack Bruce also gave his assistance, and DeLace Cole and his troop of troubadours added to the merriment and entertainment during the evening.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath lauded the Boy Scouts of America and called upon citizens "to observe Boy Scout Week during the coming week" in a formal proclamation issued today.

Boy Scout Week opens Sunday and continues until Saturday, February 13. The organization was founded February 8, 1910—27 years ago Monday.

"I earnestly recommend that our civic organizations, our churches, and our schools cooperate in carrying out a program for a definite recognition of the effective service rendered by the Boy Scouts of America, in order that the work of the Boy Scout program may be extended to a larger proportion of the boyhood of this city," said mayor's proclamation.

The message asked merchants to display American flags in front of their stores on Monday, the anniversary day.

Aged Senators Divided
On Court Proposals

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The "eleven old men" of the Senate, who have lived their three score and ten years, were sharply divided today over the wisdom of President Roosevelt's proposal to name a "substitute" for every justice on the supreme court who has passed his 70th birthday.

The Senate's septuagenarians, however, were unanimously opposed, privately or publicly, against applying any such rule to the legislative branch of the government. They don't want to retire and they don't want any substitutes sent to take their places in the Senate. The Senate's "eleven old men" were Carter Glass (D) of Virginia, 79; George W. Norris (I) of Nebraska, 75; William Gibbs McAdoo (D) of California, 73; Arthur Capper (R) of Kansas, 72; William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, 71; Hiram Johnson (R) of California, 70; James Hamilton Lewis (D) of Illinois, 70; William H. King (D) of Utah, 70; Ellison D. Smith (D) of South Carolina, 70; Theodore F. Oppose Plan

It was curious, but the oldsters who have grown gray in the Senate were opposed to the President's plan, while Green and Hughes elected for the first time last November, favored it. Green expressed (Continued On Page Two)

New Christ Lutheran Church
Will Be Dedicated On Sunday

CHRIST LUTHERAN CHURCH BUILDING

A hope that has been theirs for years will be realized on Sunday morning when the Christ Lutheran congregation members of New Castle move into their new church home at the corner of East Washington and Beckford streets, a modern brick edifice, stately and beautiful.

Just completed at a cost of approximately $25,000, the church stands as one of the most remarkable of its size ever to be erected here, from standpoints of both convenience of structure and beauty of design. It is a building which should serve the congregation well for many years to come and one of which the congregation has a right to be proud.

Three impressive dedicatory services have been planned for Sunday and the speakers are men whose names are familiar to all Lutherans in this section of the country—Rev. D. Goerss of Pittsford, Rev. A. G.

Merkens of the First Trinity Lutheran church of Pittsburgh and Dr. H. R. Lindke, Holy Cross Lutheran church, Pittsburgh.

Rev. W. R. Sommerfield, pastor of the local congregation, announces the day's program as follows:

Morning Services.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—The Ohio river's flood was definitely the Mississippi Valley's problem today as the big river rolled by Memphis deeper and swifter than ever before and within a tenth of a foot of the 48-foot crest predicted by meteorologist F. W. Britts.

The peak of the super-flood has passed New Madrid, Mo., engineers said, and is coming down stream at the rate of about 100 miles a day.

Loyalists Halt March On Malaga By Opening Dykes In Hills

REPORT SOVIET STEAMER SMASHED

BULLETIN

SEVILLE, Feb. 6.—Opening flood gates of immense mountain-side reservoirs, loyalist forces today halted the rebel advance on the seaport of Malaga with a wall of icy water.

The deluge roared down on the narrow coastal plain northeast of Marbella from the snowy slopes of the Sierra de Mijas, breaking the insurgents' march after they had swarmed through three villages.

Admission of the dramatic setback came, oddly, from Gen. Quiroga de Llano, commander of the rebel armies before Malaga.

The insurgent columns, he said, captured the villages of Zafra, Boquete and Alouzares, "but further advance was held up when bridges were dynamited and the country flooded by opening of dykes."

Report Soviet Steamer Smashed

Madrid, Feb. 6.—A rebel torpedo today smashed through the hull of a Soviet steamer as she allegedly was carrying munitions to Catalonia, a broadcast from Valladolid said.

The tide in the great battle for Malaga, big southern seaport, meanwhile turned in favor of the loyalists, as General Emil Kieber, hitherto in command of the international brigade defending Madrid, arrived at Malaga to take charge of the government counter offensive.

To relieve the pressure on Malaga, the loyalists opened a huge offensive along a 50-mile front in Andalusia, and at the same time continued their attack on Montoro, near Villafranca.

NEW CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

the key will be delivered to the chairman of the congregation, Edward Gunther, and the procession will then pass through to the church auditorium. Invocation, a congregational hymn of praise, the act of dedication, dedicatory prayer, regular order of service and a sermon by Rev. D. Goerss of Pitsburgh will follow.

At 11:15 a. m. there will be a repetition of this service for those who prefer to hear a sermon by Rev. Goerss in the German language.

Afternoon and Evening

Afternoon service, 3 o'clock. Rev. A. G. Merken of Pittsburgh will be the guest speaker. There will be vocal selections, duets and solos by the Misses Dorothea and Adeline Single of Cleveland, O., known here and related to a local family.

Evening service at 7:45 o'clock. Dr. H. R. Lindke of Pittsburgh will give the sermon. The Misses Single of Cleveland will again be heard in vocal numbers.

The organist for the morning services will be Miss Hilda Leonhardt, and for the afternoon and evening, Mrs. K. E. Schmidt.

Seats Three Hundred. The new church has seating accommodations for 300-250 in the downstairs and 50 in the balcony. The main entrance is on East Washington street, although there are side doors on Beckford street to the study, auditorium and basement. The building is brick, gothic in style, and its beauty is of a distinguished and impressive nature, inside and out.

T. M. Leivo and A. C. Lusk, both of New Castle, were architect and contractor, respectively, and both did excellent jobs. The groundbreaking took place on July 12 last year and the cornerstone was laid on the 30th of August. Everything is now complete but, of course, a great deal of the landscape work will have to be done to the ground surrounding the building.

Completely Furnished.

The auditorium, pastor's study, committee and lounge rooms on the main floor, the social, Sunday school rooms and kitchen in the basement, are completely furnished. The auditorium is lighted by eight beautifully designed hanging lanterns of cast bronze. The platform at the front is lighted indirectly; the lectern stands at the left, the pulpit at the right and the altar in the center, and they have as a background a gorgeously paneled wall.

One unusual feature is the lounge room on the main floor, located to the left of the entrance. It has been comfortably furnished and affords a place for mothers to take small children who become restless during services; the room adjoins the auditorium and the services from there can be heard.

The large dining room downstairs can be divided nicely into sections by the use of curtains and will be used by the Sunday school classes.

In the past the Christ Lutheran congregation has occupied a frame church adjacent to the new building which it leased from the Third U. P. congregation. The final service there was that of last Sunday. Christ Lutheran now has its own church.

RECEIPTS FROM PARTY EXPECTED TO YIELD $3,500

is none other than our own fellow townsman, Sol Davis, presented an "escape" act, which thoroughly baffled the audience. With Peter Hillers and Bob Hanna, from the local police force looking on, and loaning their own handcuffs, recognized as the best made, Sol escaped from a chain bound box, and from a pillory with both hands and feet bound. His act has never been duplicated by any other than the late, Houdini, Soldo claimed.

Following the program in the auditorium, the crowd was conducted to the basement, where dancing was enjoyed in the ballroom, with bingo in the west dining room. In the southwest corner of the main dining room, fortunes were told, and candy was sold at booths placed at either end of the room, while the refreshment stand occupied most of the southern section of the dining room. Upstairs in the lodge room, those who cared for cards were busy during the evening, and some attractive prizes were given to the winners at the various tables. Down in the bowling alley another group held forth with special entertainment for those who cared for it.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath, in behalf of the executive committee, which had charge of the evening's program, today extended his thanks to all who assisted with the venture which proved such a huge success. Those on the committee worked hard to make the party an enjoyable one, and the mayor also extended his thanks to all who assisted.

Everything Donated

Everything for the party was contributed by the citizens and business firms of the city, the tickets, posters, pop, sandwiches, flowers, and prizes for the bingo and cards. The result was a net profit on everything, and all the receipts went to the flood relief of the local Red Cross Chapter, who will turn it over to the National Red Cross.

Receipts from the party, together with the contributions from citizens and business firms, brings the total today close to the $13,500 mark.

Actual cash receipts at the Red Cross office this morning were $6,567. In Ellwood City, it is stated that over $2,000 has been raised, and money which is outstanding in the industries and from pledges made by citizens totals $1,100. This with the estimated receipts from the party placed at $3,500, would bring the total of $13,167, with no report having been received from several of the outlying towns where receipts are being gathered.

Bessemer citizens turned in an additional $56 today besides the $181.90 previously reported, and a number of additional contributions were received from citizens in the local community this morning.

So once again, Lawrence County citizens can point with pride to their record of generosity in such an emergency, with the knowledge that they have gone over the top for a worthy cause.

hope the whole program would be enacted into law, while Hughes declared he was "very favorably impressed" with the plan.

A different response was sounded by the other Senate septuagenarians. Glass, the Senate's septuagenarian, recently defended the supreme court in a virulent attack upon its critics, was reported opposed to any increase in its membership. So, too, were Lewis and Smith, who have just turned 70.

Borah, the Senate's outstanding constitutional authority and its dean in point of continuous service, indicated serious opposition when he said there were "some things in the message I cannot support." He added:

"It will be debated properly. I wouldn't decide so momentously a question without reflection."

Norris, who is next to Borah in continuous Senate service, said: "I doubt the wisdom of the remedy suggested by the President."

RESUME PARLEY IN ENDEAVOR TO END AUTO STRIKE

United Automobile Workers Union will be recognized as the sole collective bargaining agency for G.M.'s 200,000 workers. G.M. was said to be offering such recognition in six plants while the union was reported demanding it in 20 G.M. plants now closed by strikes.

While the negotiators for peace got together today, men and women strikers prepared to stage a picket demonstration in front of the General Motors building.

No trouble was expected. The G.M. building is about three miles from Recorders Court building where the peace parley was underway.

Resumption of the conferences today came after a secret midnight meeting.

The secret meeting, at which all factions were represented, was held in Murphy's skyscraper apartment in an exclusive river-front hotel. Murphy, it was learned on the highest authority, planned to hold today's conferences in session until midnight tonight, if necessary, in the hope that ideal General Motors thousands could start back to work Monday morning.

Meantime, the "influence" of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the peace parley became more apparent. Gov. Murphy held a long telephone conversation with the president last night, reported progress toward a settlement, and commented "President Roosevelt's influence has been most helpful."

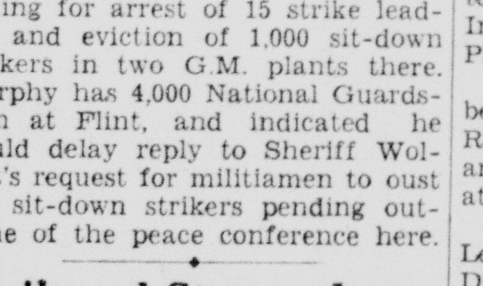

Murphy Optimistic

Twenty-seven hours of presiding at conferences between William S. Knudsen, G.M. executive vice president, and John L. Lewis, C.I.O. president, and union auto strike leader, have not dimmed Gov. Murphy's optimism.

Murphy also was faced with a big job in maintaining peace at Flint where Sheriff Thomas Wolcott held a General Motors attachment writ calling for arrest of 15 strike leaders and eviction of 1,000 sit-down strikers in 20 G.M. plants there.

Murphy led 4,000 National Guardsmen to Flint, and indicated he would delay reply to Sheriff Wolcott's request for militiamen to oust the sit-down strikers pending outcome of the peace conference here.

Deaths of the Day

Helen Flynn Funeral

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Mary's church for the late Miss Helen Flynn, of 29 North Beaver street.

The funeral party left the McGonigle funeral home for the church at about 8:45 o'clock. The officiating clergyman at the mass were Rev. Fr. Leo Waterson and Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin, both of St. Mary's parish, who served as celebrant and deacon respectively, and Rev. Fr. A. P. Scholz, of St. Margaret's, who was sub-deacon.

The pallbearers were W. E. Tyrrell, Richard Hannon, Frank Hannon, James Hannon, Bert Sullivan and William Davis. Burial took place in the church cemetery and Father Waterson conducted the committal service at the grave.

Funeral Of Mrs. Kerr Funeral services for Mrs. John Kerr, of 403 South Ray street, took place on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Harlansburg Baptist church in the presence of a large crowd of her sorrowing friends. Rev. Charles H. Heaton, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of New Castle, was in charge, assisted by the Harlansburg minister, Rev. Leonard Mathewson.

There were a great many flowers which had been sent from far and near, and the flowerbearers at the close of the services were Bertha Shenko, A. McCrum, Marjorie Kerr, Grace Love, Alberta Davis, Mary Towell, Louise Eakin, Charlotte Reynolds, Mrs. Stettin, Book, Mrs. Roy Harlan, Lois Eakin and Elizabeth Eakin.

The pallbearers were William Eakin, James Eakin, Frank Eakin, Leslie Eakin, Delbert Eakin and William Dean. Interment was made in Harlansburg Baptist cemetery.

Clark McCombs Funeral

In the presence of a large gathering of friends in the late residence, Highland Meadows, Union township, funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon for Clark B. McCombs, a prominent and highly respected resident.

Rev. C. B. Winger, Ph.D., pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of New Castle, of which Mr. McCombs was a member, was in charge, assisted by Rev. Charles Bell, D.D., of Ellwood City, and Rev. William Chambers, of North Beaver township.

The pallbearers were Thad Arrel, Coe Creed, James G. Leslie, William R. Book, Harold Hove and A. E. Michaels. Interment was made in the Poland, O., cemetery.

Thomas Anselmo

Thomas Anselmo, aged 69 years, of 725 Oak street, died at his home today at 12:30 a. m. after an illness of some time.

Mr. Anselmo was born on June 24, 1867, in Italy, son of Joseph and Sarah Anselmo. He came to America and settled at Hillsville 34 years ago. Twelve years later he moved to New Castle where he resided ever since. For the past few years he had been an employee of the street department.

Mr. Anselmo's wife died three years ago in March. Surviving are two sons, Joseph and Donald, of New Castle, four daughters, Sarah and Virginia, at home, Mrs. Lucy Castelle and Mrs. Rose DeNuccio, of New Castle, and a brother and sister, Marian and Andrew, in New York City.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. H. A. McCurdy, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Brown Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret J. Brown were conducted from the home of her son, David C. Brown, 1408 East Washington street, on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, assisted by Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Agnes O'Neill sang two numbers during the services, "The Old Rugged Cross," and "Good Night and Good Morning," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Minnie Jones.

Pallbearers were George P. Brown, Lewis N. Brown, Andrew C. Brown, David C. Brown, William B. McCune and Lester Wagner. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Funeral Of Mrs. McCart

Solemn requiem high mass for the late Mrs. Bridget McCoy McCart, of Spring street was celebrated this morning at 10:30 o'clock in St. Mary's church.

Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin was celebrant; Rev. Fr. A. P. Scholz, of St. Margaret's church, was deacon; and Rev. Fr. Leo Waterson, sub-deacon.

Pallbearers were James McCormick, Thomas Gartland, Jack Connors, Frank Nugent, John Fee and Dan Cunningham. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery where Father Galvin conducted the committal rites.

Mrs. Minnie Cutright

A three weeks' illness resulted in the death Friday afternoon shortly before 3 o'clock of Mrs. Minnie Cutright, aged 57 years, of 207 East Laurel avenue, in the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Cutright was born at Leisnering, Pa., on October 31, 1879, daughter of John and Sarah Allen Fuehrer. She married Bland Cutright and was preceded in death by him.

She was a member of the First United Presbyterian church of this city. For a number of years past she has been employed at the Miller Shoe Store.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Nina Smith of Sharon, Mrs. Sally Atkinson of New Castle, and Betty at home; one son, Alan K. Cutright, of New Castle; six grandchildren; the following sisters, Mrs. Melvin Clasper, of McKeesport;

Mrs. E. L. Brown, of Grant Town, W. Va.; Mrs. Gladys Calhoun and Mrs. James Shaner, of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. George Reagan, of Connelville, and two brothers, Harry Fuehrer, of Pittsburgh, and William Fuehrer, of Detroit, Mich.

The body has been removed to the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where friends may call. Services will be conducted there on Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in charge of the First U. P. minister, Dr. S. E. Irvine, and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery. The family will be at the mortuary to meet friends who call tonight and Sunday night from 7 to 9.

Funeral Of Mrs. Kerr Funeral services for Mrs. John Kerr, of 403 South Ray street, took place on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Harlansburg Baptist church in the presence of a large crowd of her sorrowing friends. Rev. Charles H. Heaton, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of New Castle, was in charge, assisted by the Harlansburg minister, Rev. Leonard Mathewson.

There were a great many flowers which had been sent from far and near, and the flowerbearers at the close of the services were Bertha Shenko, A. McCrum, Marjorie Kerr, Grace Love, Alberta Davis, Mary Towell, Louise Eakin, Charlotte Reynolds, Mrs. Stettin, Book, Mrs. Roy Harlan, Lois Eakin and Elizabeth Eakin.

The pallbearers were William Eakin, James Eakin, Frank Eakin, Leslie Eakin, Delbert Eakin and William Dean. Interment was made in Harlansburg Baptist cemetery.

Washington, Feb. 6.—A poll of senate and house judiciary committees today indicated that the house body will approve President Roosevelt's supreme court reform plan, but a favorable report by the senate committee is doubtful.

The president's proposal to increase the supreme court to 15 members, unless six justices now over 70 retire, is the only stumbling block to swift action on his judiciary message, the poll showed.

As for the rest of Mr. Roosevelt's program, the expedition of constitutional cases from the lower courts to the supreme court, and the creation of a mobile federal judiciary for assignment where it is most needed, there is not much opposition. The congestion of federal court dockets and the delays in federal procedure have constituted a weak link in the judicial system for years—recognized, deplored, but always passed up. Little partisanship enters this phase of it.

The whole battle will center around the supreme court, which has been described by its friends as the palladium of our liberties and by its critics as constituting a ball-and-chain around the ankle of economic progress.

ROUGH GOING FOR PRESIDENT'S PROPOSAL SEEN

giving Mr. Roosevelt—or any president, for that matter—the opportunity to appoint six members of the supreme court, which the president could do if his proposals are carried out. It is around that proposition that the fight will be waged in forthcoming weeks.

As for the rest of Mr. Roosevelt's program, the expedition of constitutional cases from the lower courts to the supreme court, and the creation of a mobile federal judiciary for assignment where it is most needed, there is not much opposition. The congestion of federal court dockets and the delays in federal procedure have constituted a weak link in the judicial system for years—recognized, deplored, but always passed up. Little partisanship enters this phase of it.

The whole battle will center around the supreme court, which has been described by its friends as the palladium of our liberties and by its critics as constituting a ball-and-chain around the ankle of economic progress.

Elastic Institution

Under Mr. Roosevelt's plan the supreme court would become an elastic institution, with regard to membership. It now consists of nine members. He proposed that he be empowered to appoint an additional judge for each member who does not retire within six months after reaching the retirement age of 70.

Applied to the existing court, such a program would allow him to appoint six additional judges, for six of the present court have passed 70. Should Congress authorize this, then the membership of the court conceivably could be increased to 15.

On the other hand, should the six justices now past 70—Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justices Brandeis, McReynolds, Brandeis, Sutherland and Butler—choose to retire voluntarily upon the proposed law's becoming effective, the court's membership would still remain nine. Mr. Roosevelt could only fill their place, and not additional justices could be appointed until one of the members reached the retirement age and remained on the bench.

his disapproval of Harold's strike methods of obtaining a bride, but Hulen was undaunted.

Calmly, he unclamped his dog chain from the radiator, walked more than a mile to the uncle's home, and clamped himself to another radiator outside the room in which Miss Hurlbut was staying.

About midnight, however, Uncle Crawford, who is vice president of a bank, helped slip Miss Hurlbut thru a bedroom window, and early this morning she boarded a plane.

It appeared as she sped eastward that the girl who won't say "yes" and won't say "no," definitely had the last laugh. And it may be a remunerative one. Theatrical offers have poured in since the sit-down love strike gained nation-wide publicity.

It was reported Miss Hurlbut had gone east to accept one of these offers.

CAMP RUN

Neighbors gathered at the J. G. Thompson home Tuesday evening, February 3, to remind Mr. Thompson of his birthday. Those enjoying the evening were Mrs. H. L. Daufen, John Carl, George, Kenneth, King, Imogene, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Boyer, Richard, Steve, Harvey

STARR-LAMOREE WEDDING TODAY

At 11 o'clock this morning Margaret Starr and John G. Lamoree departed immediately following the service unit in marriage by Rev. S. E. Irvine in the parlors of the First United Presbyterian church on Glenmore boulevard.

Only relatives were present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Lamoree returned immediately following the service unit to a wedding trip. When they return they will reside at 1409 Highland avenue.

SOROSIS MEETING AT MRS. EMERY'S

Appropriate to the season, Valentine suggestions were given at the meeting of Sorosis Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Emery, Euclid avenue.

At the business session, it was announced that plans had been completed for the annual mid-winter party which will take place Friday, February 19, at which the husbands will be guests. The affair will take place in the Elks club, with Mrs. George White chairman of the committee.

Mrs. F. R. Woods conducted the parliamentary drill yesterday, and a talk which Paul F. Butz had been scheduled to give on "Orchids" was postponed until a later date, as Mr. Butz, chairman of the Red Cross relief committee, was too busy with benefit arrangements to appear.

The next regular meeting is dated for March 5, at the home of Mrs. George White, Delaware avenue.

TIFEREH ISRAEL SISTERHOOD MEET

Meeting of Tifereth Israel Sisterhood will take place Monday evening, February 8, in the synagogue on South Jefferson street.

Hostesses for the occasion include: Mrs. A. Shapero, Mrs. M. Lerner, Mrs. D. Frank, Mrs. H. Waldman. The meeting is expected to attract a large attendance as matters of importance are to be considered.

GIRLS OF THE NEWS HONOR MRS. G. CATHAR

Honoring their associate and co-worker, Mrs. George J. Cathar, nee Jane Steen, the girl employees of The New Castle News Company, entertained at a dinner party Friday evening, at a prominent tea room downtown.

At 7 o'clock, the guests, numbering twelve, sat down at the long table prettily appointed in tones of red and white, suggestive of the Valentine theme. Individual nut cups marked each place, and a delicious chicken menu was enjoyed by the glow shed from tall red waxen tapers.

Following the serving, Mrs. Nelson Weygant presented the guest of honor with a beautiful electric gift, which conveyed many good wishes for her happiness.

In bringing the occasion to a close the group attended the community party held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, for the benefit of the flood sufferers.

MRS. B. F. BUTLER HOSTESS TO CLUB

Friday meeting of the 1914 Book club was held in the North Jefferson street residence of Mrs. B. F. Butler, with two visitors present, Mrs. J. R. Crawford and Mrs. George Cooper.

After the guests had been served a flavorful luncheon at one o'clock books were exchanged and the group found further diversion in bridge and needlework.

Mrs. Russell Urmon will be hostess for the next assembly February 19 at her home on East Wallace avenue.

Helena Election
Helena Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church, at a lovely one o'clock luncheon in the high school cafeteria Friday afternoon, served by Mrs. Viola Healy, and her students, elected the following set of officers to serve during the coming church year.

President, Mrs. W. A. Pond, first vice president, Mrs. George White; second vice president, Miss Rhoda Lowe; secretary, Mrs. L. H. Gordon; treasurer, Mrs. H. H. Beck, and assistant treasurer, Miss Maud Elder. Mrs. Joel McKee led the devotions. The guest speaker of the afternoon was Miss Rosa Brown, secretary of the Elm Street Branch of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Sarah Knott gave a very interesting study book review. Mrs. Pond presided during the business session, first announcing the plans for observance of World Day of Prayer on February 12. There were three special guests present.

HIGH SCHOOL GROUP FORMS NEW SOCIETY

Friday evening a few prominent pupils met in the high school auditorium and formed a new group, to be known as the Browner club.

An election of officers was held, with Jean Hartland and Marian Butler presiding. Results were: president, Louis Pearsall; sergeant-at-arms, Edward Bollard and Ben Jenkins; vice presidents, Jean Hartland and Marian Butler; secretary, Sara Pane Cleland; treasurer, Richard Johns.

After the election Mary Keefer and Leana Morgan favored the assembly with a duet. Members had an open discussion of future activities, it being decided to meet weekly on Friday evenings in the high school auditorium. After plans for next week's gathering were made, the meeting adjourned.

HILL TOP CLUB MEETS ON FRIDAY

Mrs. James Campbell carried home from the Hill Top club assembly Friday evening, in the home of Mrs. A. J. Henderson, on Delaware avenue, two lovely prizes, having won both the high score award and the galloping trophy.

Luncheon was served at an attractive table in the dining room, the Valentine idea being developed in red and white tones, clever favors, red tapers and a centerpiece of cut flowers. Mrs. Joseph Campbell aided.

In two weeks, the club will have its next meeting with Mrs. David W. Kay of Fairfield avenue.

VADE-MECUM CLUB DESSERT-BRIDGE

Vade-Mecum club members met for a dessert-bridge party Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Frank Taylor, Neshannock boulevard. Mrs. C. E. Armstrong aided in serving.

Prizes for honors in the card contests were carried off by Mrs. C. E. Armstrong and Mrs. Homer Gardner. An informal social period ensued.

Hi-Ho Bridge Club

Delightful hospitality was extended to associates of the Hi-Ho Bridge club members Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Hollis Barber, Delaware avenue.

Contests featured the early hours, Mrs. Joseph Carson, Mrs. Emmy Lou Porter and Miss Frances Gibson winning the honor score prizes. Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Ed. Hoyland were special guests of the occasion.

In serving lunch, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Ruth Johnson, the small tables being prettily appointed in the seasons suggestions. Friday, February 19, Mrs. Joseph Carson, Cunningham avenue will receive members.

Current Events Class
The Current Events class will meet on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Frank Fischer, Park avenue, instead of the home of Mrs. John R. Preston, East Lincoln avenue, as formerly planned.

Mrs. Carmi Glover representing the education committee of the Federation of Women's clubs, will collect story books and magazines brought by members to this meeting.

Home Department.
American Home Department of the Woman's club will have next Tuesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. J. J. Fisher, North Jefferson street, at 2 o'clock.

Roll call response will be "Some Interesting Experience I Have Seen or Read About Recently."

"TOWNE PARTY" O. E. S. MONDAY AT CATHEDRAL

Get Ma, Ev, Murt and John ready for the "Home Towne Party" to be staged at the Cathedral on Monday night by members of New Castle chapter 105, Order of the Eastern Star, for it's gonna' be one gala occasion you won't want to miss! The first "Thousand La's" will begin at 8:30 o'clock in the east lodge room, following a short meeting of chapter members, with Mrs. Bessie Pitzer, general chairman of the entertainment.

Some of the high lights that will mark the program will be those well known "Flora Dora Girls" in all their frills, and not forgetting the bride, who will be there as "A Friend of the Family"—another humorous skit. Yes, indeed, "Barney Bottle Cap and Wife" will perform, too. Be sure to have no secrets on your mind when you enter, as that internationally known mind reader, the famous "The Joneses," will be at the top of the hilarious evening, the "Olde Towne Band" will strike up, and its a whizz!

William Reed, worthy patron of the chapter, will be stage manager, and he will be assisted by "Winkle Winkle" of the firm of "Winkle, Winkle and Winkle", in the person of Mrs. Bessie Pitzer. A whirlwind of fun is in store for attendees.

This function will wind up a most successful year of social activities for New Castle chapter members, under the leadership of Mrs. Margaret Wheldon, worthy matron, who invites all O. E. S. members and friends to share her final party on Monday.

Assisting on the committee for this date will be: chairman, Mrs. Bessie Pitzer; Mrs. Marjorie Brinton, Mrs. Margaret Frank, Mrs. Florence Campbell, Mrs. Mary Owens, Mrs. Margaret Wheldon, Mrs. Dorothy Stoddard, Mrs. Jennie Martin, Mrs. Ethel Bollard, Mrs. Kathryn Nessel Allen and Mrs. Parthena Heath, the Misses Ruth Weir, Virginia Bowman, Mary Harvard and Louise Davies, and the worthy patron, William Reed.

WIMODAUSIS LUNCHEON INSTALLATION MEETING

The regular luncheon meeting and annual installation of new officers will feature the meeting of Wimdousis club members Wednesday afternoon in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Reservations for the affair will be accepted by Mrs. Dallas Hildebrand of Court street, Mrs. Milton Marshall of North Walnut street. The regular routine of business will follow the serving in the west dining room.

T. A. B. Club Dinner
Mrs. Floyd Rice entertained the T. A. B. members charmingly at a dinner party in her home on Highland avenue Thursday evening.

Games which followed the dinner were enjoyed by everyone and prizes were won by the Misses Jeannette Vogan and Grace M. Nunn.

In two weeks the club will meet at Miss Nunn's home on Fairfield avenue.

E. L. Doud Honored
The birthday anniversary of E. L. Doud was a medium of a gathering of friends in his home Thursday evening, when they invaded the residence on Bell avenue, to share in celebrating.

Games and music were forms of pastimes, and at a suitable hour, Mrs. Doud, assisted by Mrs. Ed. Johnson, served refreshments.

The guest of honor received a collection of handsome gifts as remembrances of the day.

PAST MISTRESSES HAVE CLUB SESSION

Mrs. Mary Osler of Crawford avenue, was hostess on Friday afternoon, to Past Worthy Mistresses of the L. O. L. I.

Seven members were present and they spent a delightful period playing 500 for which the scores were so close, that the hostess presented each of her guests with a small prize. At 3:30, the new president, Mrs. Myra Parks, called a business session at which time the group gave Mrs. Osler a lovely gift in honor of her birthday which falls on February 10. An exchange of comic Valentines provided merriment.

Mrs. Mary Rae, of Pulekreson St., who has been ill for the past two months, was welcomed back by the group yesterday. A nice lunch was served late in the afternoon.

The next place of meeting is with Mrs. Homer Penney of North Beaver street, on Friday, March 5.

MERRY MAKERS CLUB GUESTS AT DINNER

At 12:30 dinner was enjoyed by members of the Merry Makers club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Aaron Boalick, Highland extension, who entertained in a delightfully informal manner. AN END TO "AS MAINE GOES?"

MAINE seems to be wearying of her role of political weather-vane, judging from the legislative proposal to change the date of her state election from September to November.

Something that happened on November 3 last may have inspired the suggestion. The Maine legend has been subject to as many exceptions as the groundhog tradition, but it has given a distinctive flavor to the September elections in presidential years and provided employment for a host of amateur prognosticators.

The proposal, if adopted by the legislature, will have to be submitted to a vote of the people. And here a note of warning should be sounded. There is a proposal before congress to change the date of the national election from November to October. The day for voting for president must be uniform throughout the United States. It might be well to wait and see what congress does about it. For a Maine state election a month after a presidential election might seem too much like cold turkey.

JAPAN'S IMPASSE

An army veto without a scintilla of legality prevented for ten days the formation of a Japanese Cabinet to replace that which was forced out by Parliamentary opponents of army domination. This was because the minister of war must be a general on the active list and a small group that guides army policy would permit none to take the post.

Never before has the lower house of Parliament forced a Cabinet out. Administration tactics in the past when the Diet appeared to have the upper hand have been to dissolve Parliament and go to the country in a general election. Apparently the hostile lawmakers had greater strength or were able to move more swiftly than Premier Hirota suspected. Now there seems to be a knot that will require the sagacious counsel of his advisers for the Emperor to cut, even though a new and "moderate" small Cabinet has been installed.

There is popular resentment at the huge army budget, which means increased taxes for the first time in a decade. Though other economies may be effected, the new Cabinet, if it lasts, is not expected to pare the army figures of about $400,000,000.

AN IMPORTANT BIRTHDAY

As we have observed the working of the Boy Scout movement in our own and other communities, we have been impressed with two things: How practical it is, and how powerful its grip on a boy.

An editor has his attention called to most of the main forces operating, both good and bad. Yet the press dispatches carry more records of groups in conflict, at war, at variance than they carry of groups looking for chances to help other people.

In fact, the Boy Scout "Good Turn" spirit, which Dr. James E. West terms "The capacity to care about others" is the very essence of democracy. I have been both astonished and delighted to see energetic young men touched by this social spirit actually carrying the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount into everyday affairs and getting a kick out of it too! February is the birthday month of scouting, and our hats are off to the Boy Scouts and their practical ideals of citizenship. If we could have one generation where everybody "cared" about everyone else, democracy and brotherhood would be very real. Our scouts are pointing the way!

In their jamboree which will be held in Washington, D. C., in June, 25,000 scouts will make a pilgrimage and camp amid the shrines of our democracy, finding fun, fellowship and a deepened loyalty to democracy. Not a bad idea for some of us older folk!

FLOOD PREVENTION

After every flood it is unanimously resolved the destruction of life and property shall not happen again. Conferences are called, reforestation is discussed, levees and dikes are built higher and stronger and the construction of storage reservoirs to impound the run-off waters of feeder streams is advocated. Yet despite the engineering and financial resources of the country, no certain safeguards have been devised for the towns along the Ohio and Mississippi, although one of the valleys where events horrified the country in 1913 has withstood this flood.

Representatives of eleven states scoured by the present flood met in Columbus "to seek future ways to forestall flood devastation." The conference was sponsored by the Council of State Governments and on a promising note. It was designed to unite the afflicted states in a cooperative plan of flood control with the federal government. The council recognized the need for concerted action, and that is an advance.

Skeptics on flood control are referred to ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, Arthur E. Morgan, head of TVA; Gordon S. Rentschler, who is the president of the National Bank of New York, or any of the thousands of the residents of the valley of the Great Miami River, who suffered an unprecedented flood almost twenty-four years ago and decided to do what they could to prevent a repetition of the horror.

The Great Miami is one of the tributaries of the Ohio. In Tecumseh's time and for generations after it was one of the streams that not only frequently caused destruction along its course, but also increased the havoc by the Mississippi. The builders of the Miami Conservancy District intended to save themselves; they helped southern neighbors; they helped the nation, and they gave it an example that might be profitably followed.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

MOTHER DISAGREES

Some while ago I wrote in defense of the over-willing child engaged in too many activities at school and doing too many extra things outside of school, wearing himself out with successes, rarely experiencing serenity. In reply came the following:

"Dear Dr. Myers: For years I have read your column in my paper. Several times I have written you and received your suggestions. Certainly if I did not think your advice good I would not write for personal replies. Yet, being human, I find I do not always agree with your ideas."

"Sometimes I think you jump too quickly to conclusions. You read with the eye, listen with the ear, but do not heed with your thinking."

Cross With Parents.

"In today's column you are cross with parents that allow their children to take on too many outside interests. You head your writup with, 'As cruel as if they had been thrown to the wild beasts,' and after reading your article I felt for a moment like a monster. Then my better judgment asserted itself and I realized that what you said would be true if it was so."

Then she describes her immediate community—"The street grew up overnight; that we were mostly all newlyweds when we came here; that we own our homes, and in each house there are from one to five children under the age of 12—and there are 14 houses on the street with a total of exactly 26 children under 12 years of age. Not a child on this street takes anything so seriously that he or she ever will reach the verge of a nervous breakdown."

She tells of the older of her two children, aged 10. Passes in all her subjects at school. Takes to reading and spelling like a duck to water. "Is popular with her teachers, mostly because she is fair-minded and genial." No mention is made of playmates, or play with other children, always. There is something she can do to amuse herself.

"She takes lessons in piano, violin, and two forms of dancing. . . . Has to practice one hour and 15 minutes daily. Has three half-hour lessons per week after school. Seemingly to enjoy practicing. 'I sit at the piano and either play with her or accompany her. . . . If daddy is available he takes out his fiddle and plays along. . . . When it is a song she plays and we all sing, even the young sister. . . ."

With all these successes and family comradeship, can there be adequate serenity for this child? Of course, in the words of Mark Twain, "It ain't my funeral."

THE MOTHER'S EYE
To me the most wonderful thing in this world is a good Mother's Eye.

I know, of course, that there are some women who are selfish, scatter-brained, ignorant and blind. I have seen them, you have known them. But those are not good mothers. They have not the Mother's Eye. The Mother's Eye is loving and anxious and wise. A father's eye may be sharp, but it rarely sees what a mother sees. . . . She says: "I know something is wrong with that child. The father says: 'She's all right. You're just imagining things.' . . . He doesn't believe in 'borrowing trouble.' The child has no fever, she's up and about and seems her normal self, he can see nothing wrong with her. But the Mother's Eye is not deceived. She knows what is not said. She sees what is not visible to others."

It's tonsils. It's a low blood count. It's a fluttering heart. . . . Or it may be something more profound, in the spirit and disposition of the child. She is smart, she is rebellious, she has been hurt. . . . And that understanding Mother's Eye sees beneath the surface and knows that "something is wrong."

I do not know how it's done. But I think the Mother's Eye is so wise because it is directly connected with a loving and understanding heart.

These are her children born of her and there has been no severance between herself and them. Her brain may look critically upon them and see all their weaknesses and faults as coldly as though she had never seen them before. But she has accepted a responsibility and she will not put it to one side. This is her job and she must do it, day in and day out, 24 hours in the day. So, whatever her dreams or desires, her Mother's Eye is forever on the watch.

I am humbled and ashamed when I think of it, and I know I am unequal to the happy task of praising as I should. No poet, no painter, can do justice to the miracle of a Mother's Eye.

College students seem to find things out easy. A Westminster College group has found that a blond girl dressed in a bright red dress is apt to be dangerous. A lot of wives could have told them that without conducting any tests.

There are two kinds of people—those you continue to like and those who see "no percentage" in donating toward flood relief.

Scotland, we are told, is drifting toward America. And, after viewing the younger generation doing its stuff in the night clubs, we feel it necessary to add—none to soon!

NOT A THING TO DO
The society editor says the social world is moving at a snail's pace now that the holidays are over. The ladies, maybe, will share the sentiment of the men folks expressed in the following lines, taken from an old scrap book:

The happiest nights I ever knew
Are those when I've
No place to go
And the Mrs. says
When the day is through,
Tonight we haven't
A thing to do.

Oh, the joy of it,
And the peace untold
Of sitting round
In my slippers, old,
With my pipe and book
In my easy chair,
Knowing I needn't
Go anywhere.

Needn't hurry
My evening meal
Nor force the smiles
That I do not feel.
But can grab a book
From a nearby shelf
And drop all shame
And be myself.

Oh, the charm of it
And the comfort rare;
Nothing on earth
With it can compare.
And 'n sorry for him
Who doesn't know
The joy of having
No place to go.

A girl who just recently moved to town says she is a little peeved at the way the boys in New Castle act. "Why do they imagine that every girl they meet is anxious to cuddle and kiss them?" she inquired.

"I've been out on dates with five different boys in the past three weeks (I moved to this neighborhood just a month ago) and every one of them tried to put his arm around me and kiss me, sometime or other during the evening. It was the first time I had ever been with any of them, too.

"I may seem like an old-fashioned girl, but I can't stand that sort of treatment. Still, I'm afraid they won't all any more. Can you suggest anything?"

Sure—wear a base ball mask.

Leon Trotsky must be color blind. He picked a Yale man for secretary passing up without apology, the Harvard Crimson boys.

A state Highway Department official reports that there is an increasing demand from motorists for auto license numerals which correspond with their home addresses. So far, however, no ex-convict has attempted to remember his prison number in this fashion.

Someone has discovered a town in Yassa which boasts of the name of Yassa. Won't that make Hollywood jealous?

One of the strange paradoxes about horse racing is that as soon as the race is on, someone shouts, "They're off."

She: Just think, we have been married 24 hours.
He: Yes, it seems just as though it were yesterday.

And there was the woman who shot her husband for trumping her ace. They buried him with simple honors.

OUCH!
They were nestling close together when she looked up into his big brown eyes and inquired: "Am I the first girl you ever kissed?"
And he replied: "Now that you mention it, your face does look familiar."

The World At A Glance

War Hysteria Recalled. Youth Impetuous For War. Few Will Listen To Truth.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

TWENTY years ago this year young men of the United States were swept by hysteria. This writer was among them.

It will be 20 years in April that the United States entered the World War.

We who were young then were impatient, eager for war. We organized drilling groups. We sent telegrams to our congressmen demanding the draft. We denounced representatives and senators who spoke for peace.

The Germans were "Huns." The French were dying to preserve liberty. The British likewise. Democracy in the United States was doomed unless—

We decided to "make the world safe for democracy."

DISILLUSIONED
We who were young, of course, had no real knowledge of world affairs. At least I acknowledge that as to myself. And, as we grew older, we began to realize that our "statesmen" themselves were no wiser.

In retrospect, it all seems horrible. Instead of making the world safe for democracy, we very nearly destroyed democracy, and the world, to boot. The terrible reaction in Europe now is a direct result of the Versailles treaty, which dug the heel of the conqueror into the neck of the conquered.

Intolerance spread throughout the entire world. In the United States, civil rights were cast aside (amid our cheers) with impunity. Rights which had been centuries in the making were ground into the dust.

Pure thought, truth, was put under the same iron heel. And, we fear, it will not arise even to its pre-war stature, for ages to come.

TOO BLACK?
Have we painted the picture too black?
We do not know. We are in the period of immediate retrospect now. But the men who are 20 today do not ever see first-hand of that dark age. To them, it already is a past age. They, as did we who were 20 those 20 years ago, can be swept by another wave of hysteria.

To us who urged the war—and who this writer surrendered himself was a saintly duty. Ministers urged us on; fathers, mothers, too. Those who would halt us, we imprisoned.

Can the picture ever be painted too black?

LIBERTY WITHOUT WAR?
A person may ask: "Can liberty—or democracy—be preserved at times without war?"

For example, would Fascist dictators not overwhelm the entire world?
Democracies, or their predecessors, of the past have been destroyed by barbarians.

Perhaps. Perhaps. But should we take it upon ourselves?

Who thinks he suffers tortures without glory or applause?
He's the man the concert doorman knows the minute that he sees.

By that tell-tale look upon him of "it's anything to please!"
He's the fellow in the ballroom with that solemn gaze and glum who hides out with twenty others who would rather not have come.

Who sits idly in some corner till it's time to take him home.

HUSBANDS

A husband is the fellow that a wife must drag about.

And battle with at evening when it's time to take him out.

He's the chap you see at operas with that vacant, patient stare.

That announces very plainly that his wife has hauled him there.

You can see the music bores him.

Would much rather she had left him to lie snoring on the couch.

A husband is the fellow that a wife must scheme and plan.

To exhibit on occasions just to prove she has a man.

She must take him out to socials, lectures, literary teas.

And display him to the people, though he's plainly ill at ease.

He's the meek and patient mortal with the stony, hairless dome.

Who sits idly in some corner till it's time to take him home.

Sunday School 'Gold Rush' To Open Tomorrow

Increase Campaign Starts
Sunday And Will Continue To March 28,
Easter Sunday

TOMORROW WILL BE
YOUNG PEOPLE'S DAY

"We are going to have a lot of fun" states C. C. McKibben, superintendent of the Third United Presbyterian Sunday school, commenting on the increase in the "Gold Rush" that starts February 7 and in which a number of Sunday schools in New Castle are participating. The first Sunday will be known as "Young People's Day" and the following Sunday, February 14, will be "Adult Day." The campaign lasts up to and including March 28, Easter Sunday.

During the past week the Sunday schools have been organizing and making advance plans and it will probably take the first week of the campaign to see just how the Sunday school line up. The plan of operation is comparatively simple, leaving plenty of room for ingenuity and initiative among the leaders of the competing Sunday schools. To enter the campaign all that is required is for the Sunday school to furnish their average attendance for 1936 as a basis, and then report every Sunday afternoon their attendance for that day. The publicity and percentages will be taken care of by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association.

The Sunday schools taking part "Stake their claim" which means that they decide just what section of the city they will visit to stimulate old members that are not attending, and to secure new ones. The classes of each Sunday school, however, have the privilege to visit any member of any particular class, no matter what part of the city member lives. This makes the purpose two-fold to systematically work allotted claim and also to visit old members not attending. In this connection might say that James Vogan of the Highland United Presbyterian church has worked out the average attendance for 1936 for every class in his Sunday school. In this way each class knows whether or not they are producing "Gold Nuggets."

Paul Weller, the superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday school is furnishing "Gold Rush" miniature postal cards for each class to send to absent members in addition to visits that will be made.

Percy B. Walls, the adult superintendent of the First Christian Sunday school states that they are planning to organize two visiting teams so as to have some competition among the schools.

Miss Anna Perry, the administrative superintendent of the county association says that it is her belief that the Sunday school not only compete but most of all that each Sunday school should strive to beat its own record. Then, no matter what Sunday school wins, all will be benefitted.

Church Service For Boy Scouts Sunday

Reverend Yeates Will Prepare
Special Sermon For Scouts
Sunday Evening

The second day in what has started out as a very successful week of scouting will be marked Sunday evening by a special church service in the Third United Presbyterian church, corner Adams and East Washington streets, of interest to scouts in this district.

Rev. Charles E. R. Yeates, pastor of the church, will deliver a sermon suitable to the occasion and will show the benefits which have been derived from scouting since its introduction into the United States.

Scouts and scout leaders will be attired in their uniforms and they will meet in the church before the service and organize in order that they may march into the church in a group shortly before the service begins.

This entire week is being celebrated as Anniversary Week by the Boy Scouts throughout the nation, and the local council has planned many activities for the boys in the district troops.

Monday evening will be observed as parent's night by all the troops in the district. Special troop meetings will be held, and suitable programs have been arranged for the occasion. Plans are also being made whereby the troops will have radio facilities to hear the Scout Anniversary National broadcast in which President Roosevelt will be the main speaker.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR PROGRAM AT CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY

A program by the Christian Endeavor will feature the Sunday evening program at the Central Presbyterian church on the public square. Miss June Campbell, president, will be the leader. There will be three talks: by Dr. C. B. Winger, pastor, Miss Geraldine Fry and John Thompson. James Thompson will read the scripture. Jack McCall will offer prayer and Crawford Lyon will give the closing meditation.

There will be special music by the young people's choir, Helen Ewing, organist, and Prof. Robert Duff, leader. The service will open at 7:45.

Hoover Heights Sunday Evening

Evangelist Frank Wyre Will Give Last Of Revival Services Tomorrow

The special evangelistic services which have been in progress for the past two weeks at the Hoover Heights Gospel Tabernacle will close with an unusual program Sunday.

Rev. Frank Wyre, the visiting evangelist, whose topics and addresses have created new and growing interest nightly will give an object sermon to the Sunday school at 10 a. m. and will also speak in the regular morning service at 11, subject "An Unreasonable Demand."

An unusual service to be conducted Sunday afternoon at which time the evangelist will give a lecture which has been deeply and widely appreciated. The subject of his lecture will be, "The Second Coming of the Devil." The service will begin at 2:30 p. m.

The evening service will be the last of this series promising to be most helpful. Rev. Wyre's topic will be, "The Strangest Prayer in the Bible."

The church is located at Morris and Moorehead streets, in South New Castle Boro. Arthur T. Williams, pastor.

New Coal Licenses Arrive In City After Long Delay

First Coal License In District
Issued To Edward
Welkenbach

According to James Rae, sealer of weights and measures, the supply of coal license plates was exhausted some time ago, due to the heavy demand by dealers in the vicinity.

While waiting for a new shipment to arrive, Mr. Rae issued receipts to the dealers as certificate of their purchase of the plates. These receipts were honored just as the plates would have been.

Sealer Rae has just received the tardy shipment of coal plates and states that they are in his office in the city building. Persons who now carry receipts and have not yet received their plates, may get them by calling at his office.

The first license plate issued in this district, and bearing the number one, was issued to Edward Welkenbach, West Washington street.

This man was so anxious to receive his plates that he had his money in the office several weeks before the 1937 plates were placed on sale.

Minstrel Planned At Shenango High

Boys' Varsity Club To Give Minstrel On Friday,
February 26

Plans are now being completed for the event, Frank Nocera, is faculty advisor. Arthur Pander and Joe Gummel are student directors.

Miss Margaretta Hess will be in charge of the musical end of the production.

Thirteen Shenango high students are taking competitive examinations at Westminster College, today, Principal Johnston stated.

High school students are now making preparations for the coming Lawrence county forensic and music league contests, March 20.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

DELAWARE RIVER GAP

Do you know that the earliest white settlers came to the Delaware Water region in 1725?

This region is rich in historic lore. It was the homeland of the great Lenape and Algonquin Indian nations, and along the trails and passes through the beautiful forests many other Indians have passed. Examples of their fine architecture still stand in perfect condition within a radius of two or three miles of the town of Water Gap.

The Delaware Water Gap was a pioneer in the "Aristocracy of Summer Resorts." Its roster of famous guests today reads like "Who's who in America."

Guest Speaker At Reformed Church

Licentiate Thomas M. Hutcheson will preach Sunday at both morning and evening services in the Reformed Presbyterian church, corner Oak and Pine streets.

AROUND CITY HALL

Attorney Gilbert Long, assistant to the city solicitor, William Coburn, was gathering information yesterday to place in a petition which the mayor, Charles E. McGrath will present to Lawrence county court. The petition will ask the court to abate an alleged nuisance. The city will take this action as the result of a City Engineer Glenn R. Throop having declared the building under construction at 320 Grove street, being unsafe. It was there that a portion of the wall fell and killed Frederick Taylor, the owner.

Streets department lost no time in placing ashes at Sycamore Way and North Mill street several days ago when water which was pumped from a Rebecca street business house froze. The object was double, first to prevent injuries to anyone and second, to protect the city from a possible lawsuit in case anyone fell and was hurt.

Slot machines and marble boards taken in raids here originally cost probably a thousand dollars, according to city detective chief, Ray Showalter. Some of the marble machines, electrically operated, cost from $75.00 to $200.00. There are four such confiscated boards and about eight slot machines at city hall. Machines which pay out cash are taboo, Chief Criswell reports.

Temperance Day At Third U. P. Sunday

Tomorrow is to be "Temperance Day" for the Bible school of the Third United Presbyterian church, corner Adams and East Washington streets. Speakers have been secured for the various departments and groups and splendid, timely messages are anticipated.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS IN MARRIED LIFE TO BE SUBJECT OF SERMON

"The Secret of Happiness in Married Life" will be the subject of a sermon by Rev. T. B. Shearer on Sunday evening in the Central Christian church. Gifts are to be given to the couple present who have been married the longest, to the couple with the most children present, and to the youngest grand-mother present. Seats will be reserved for couples married by Rev. Shearer since accepting this pastorate. Special music will be furnished.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL IS HAVING COMMUNION

All services at the First Congregational church, East Reynolds street, will be in the English language on Sunday and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in the morning. New members will also be received at that time.

ment in the state that was the first of all in the 48 in the Union to be settled, but the next to last to enter the Union!

Feb. 7, 1779—George Rogers Clark, 27, and a company of 170 started from Louisville, Ky., on the expedition that was to win the middle west from the British. Overcoming incredible hardships and difficulties in the dead of winter, he forced the surrender of Fort Vincennes. In the struggle, he had only one casualty. Nor did his great services stop there. Yet there was no reward from his country and he died in poverty and obscurity. Even his grave was forgotten.

Caldwell Meets Local Folks Down In Florida

Telling of New Castle and Lawrence County folks met during his sojourn in St. Petersburg, Florida, and giving other interesting experiences of the past few weeks, the following interesting letter has been received from James P. Caldwell, of The News staff:

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 3, 1937
Mr. George W. Conway,
City Editor News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear George:

When away from your own tax district you are always glad to meet folks who have been plucked in the old home town. Likewise the sight of a license tag from the old Keystone state is a friendly reminder, since it and yours were made in the same penitentiary.

Among the latest New Castle arrivals here are Dr. and Mrs. Loyal W. Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McBride; Mrs. Sadie Michael; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Greenlee.

Elwood County visitors: Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Glenn; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tilia; Lou and Billie Tilia and Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson. Darlington has contributed Dr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Watterson and Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Watterson, while Miss Bess Craig is a late arrival from Grove City.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Craig, the other day, Ralph is a retired New Castle fireman. He and Mrs. Craig are located about one hundred miles north of here. They were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chapman also of New Castle. Ralph says he is having the time of his life fishing. Many of the fish he catches weigh more than he does. He has attached a gong to his fishing pole and every time the bell rings he yanks the pole. Sometimes he says the fish are so big he has to go out in a boat and ride them in, but generally they come peacefully when they see who is at the other end of the line. Ralph seems to thrive on fishing. He is fat as a walrus and brown as a catfish.

Collided with Jake Kahrer, another retired New Castle fireman. For many years Jake imagined he was having a good time sitting around the Park avenue fire station, waiting for the fire bell. Down here all he has to do is to soak up the sunshine and wait for the dinner bell. Jake admits he likes this latter job the best. He is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Mont Shilling, former New Castle residents, who have been living here for some time. Jake says to tell the boys of the New Castle fire department to hurry up and get on the pension list. There's nothing like it.

W. A. Stone of Boyles avenue, and his bride of recent months are here spending their honeymoon. Mr. Stone's favorite diversion is that of hiking around admiring the many beautiful flower gardens. There is a flowering vine here commonly called "Flame", which is just now at the height of its career. It's flowers are deep red and golden. It's a great climber, covering everything but a mortgage. Some houses roofs and all are completely folded in its embrace. It grows to the tops of tall trees, and covers fences and trellises with a profusion of blossoms that enchants the observer.

Harry Alexander, another New Castle visitor, is a great admirer of this flower, but he isn't letting it interfere with his digestion. He says he hasn't much to do down here but eat and sleep, and look happy, but every time he hears the choo-choo whistle, he has sort of a longing to be back at his old job in the railroad office. Seems as if most of the people visiting here have retired from something or other. Even a lot of the buzz wagons are retired. But to get back to Harry. When he isn't looking at the flowers or holding down a park bench, you can generally locate him in an auction room across from the postoffice. Of course he don't want to buy anything, but he enjoys seeing the tourists kiss their money good-bye. The auction man tried to get him to bid on a $4000 rug the other day, and Harry thanked him.

Our party was out at Bok tower 82 miles east of here on Tuesday. It stands on the highest point in Florida, the tower and chimneys are magnificent; the garden is full of flowers gorgeous in variety and color. Just now the Azeles are in full bloom, much earlier than usual on account of the exceptionally warm weather. The tower is one of the meccas of the south. Few visitors to Florida go home without seeing it. There are hundreds of autos there every day. The Bok tower was conceived and erected by the former publisher of the Ladies Home Journal and Saturday Evening Post. He was buried on the north side of the tower, a simple marble slab covering his resting place. The grounds surrounding the tower are maintained as a bird sanctuary. The sweet songs, mingling with the chimers in the tower, enthrall the visitor. The thought uppermost in my mind as I gazed and listened, was not so much of the tower and sanctuary, as of the man whose body lies beneath the marble slab. Any man with money could erect a tower and surround it with beautiful gardens, but it remained for Edward Bok to conceive the idea, the fruition of which is daily a joy and pleasure to people from all parts of the country. There is nothing like it in the United States.

On our way back from the Bok tower we stopped at Winter Haven and said "hello" to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kline, former New Castle residents. They came down here a number of years ago and liked the climate so well that they agreed to be permanent fixtures, although Mr. Kline still has interest back in New Castle and makes several trips a year. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kline are looking well. They have recently purchased a new home of the Spanish type. It has a beautiful setting near a lake, where the bullfrogs sing and the fish are waiting to be caught. Mr. Kline also had some orange trees on his lawn, and a large grove out in the country. His former home here is now occupied by his daughter and son-in-law. He was mighty glad to see us and said good-bye in Spanish.

Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Fike, William D. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Caldwell, Mrs. Jessie Mayne, Mr. and Mrs. W. Aiken, Mrs. Caldwell and myself formed a party recently to Tarpon Springs, the largest sponge fisheries in the world, located 40 miles north of St. Petersburg. It is a quaint little town, where the manners and customs of the Greek sponge fishermen hark back to medieval times. Along the bay runs a narrow street, with sponging on one side and mostly curio shops on the other. It has a fishy smell and is best visited after a full meal. The boats, used by the sponge fishermen are equipped with both sails and motors. Sponges are found on the bottom of the gulf some thirty miles distant. They are gathered at depths of from thirty to one hundred feet. In shallow water fishermen divers or spongers from boats. In deeper water diving suits are used. The sponges attach themselves to the sea bottom, and must be cut loose. One thing I learned about sponges is that the brown ones will wear longest. Brown is the natural color. The white ones are bleached and acids tend to shorten their usefulness. One of the divers explained the sponges are one of the lowest forms of animal life. Bill Walton asked if they are Democrats or Republicans, and the fisherman replied "Me no understand."

On the way back from Tarpon Springs we stopped at Clearwater to inspect a big trailer camp. There were about one thousand people in the camp. The trailers were detached from autos and were parked in rows, like streets. The boss of the parking lot charged $4 per month rental. He provides sanitary facilities, water and electric light. All the trailers have to do is to plug in their appliances. He can either cook in his trailer or buy ready cooked food on the grounds. Most of the trailer families cook their own. There are plenty of fish for the catching, fruits and vegetables are cheap, and the trailerite can really live more cheaply than at home.

There are all kinds of trailers, from the home-made contraption to the more elaborate, factory made product. These trailer camps can be found scattered all over Florida. Looks as though the country is inclining toward wheels underneath, as well as in the belfry. In the water front camps the tourists spend most of their time swimming or lying around in the sand. The sea-gulls and pelicans do the same, but you can usually tell the tourists by their sunburned backs. I learned that some of the trailerites live on wheels the year round. They say it is the only way to escape the tax collector. But the trailer problem is one that is just now receiving attention in a number of states.

Municipalities are kicking on school-trailer children, and authorities are trying to figure out how to make the trailerite pay something for the protection of his life and property. Maybe something will happen before everybody quits home for a trailer.

I am afraid I am getting this sermon too long, but I feel that I would be amiss in my duty toward my home town if I didn't tell the ladies of New Castle how to be beautiful, if there are any needing instruction. I secured the information from no other than Annette Kellerman, world famous swimmer and inventor of the one piece bathing suit. I saw Annette in New Castle many years ago when she was playing in Neptune's daughter. I saw her again at a style show given here in Williams Park, and the fact that she seems just as agile ever, leads me to believe that there is something in her beauty advice. Seven young ladies of St. Petersburg helped her show the evolution of the bathing suit, from the ancient covering consisting of long trousers and a Mother Hubbard to the modern creation, evolved from Annette's own gay tatter.

The seven young ladies came upon the stage separately, each attired in a suit of a certain period. When the last one came out attired in Annette's one piece suit, spectators were uncertain whether they were in Williams Park or the Garden of Eden.

And now here's what you're waiting for; Miss Kellerman's beauty recipe and advice on how to reduce. To the overly plump her first admonition is to starve yourself. Everybody eats too much, she says. You can cut down at least one third on your diet and feel just as well. Second practice deep breathing, from the "tummy" up. Don't breathe from the chest down. You can take breathing exercises in bed or anywhere during the day. Annette further elucidated on how to reduce by lying flat on her back on a table, and raising each foot alternately to the perpendicular. She could touch her forehead with her toes. This exercise is for the reduction of surplus cargo at the hips. She also showed how women can make housework an aid to beauty. For instance while washing dishes, the proper exercise is to stretch the legs back and up. In using a dust pan bend only at the hips. These exercises can be varied in scrubbing the floor or in dusting the furniture. By their aid housekeeping becomes a pleasure and a lithe and beautiful figure is assured.

There is a lot more to this beauty business, but I will tell you about it when I get home.

CHINA GETS SUPPLY OF NEEDED RADIUM

PEIPING—China is the richer in radium by 510 milligrams received by the Sino-Belgian Radium Institute, which now has one gram, or slightly less than half of the quantity available in all China.

These two grams of the precious element owned in China, contrasts sadly with the amounts elsewhere in the world. Belgium has 32 grams in use, for example.

The newly arrived radium was packed in two heavy lead boxes, and is stored in a steel safe within which is another steel container wrapped in 1600 rounds of lead.

PRUNE GRAPES TO GET BEST PRODUCTION

In pruning grapes, which method should be used, the spur or long cane? Both methods are used by growers. In the spur method of pruning the vines are cut back severely, leaving only two or three potential fruit buds. The long cane method is characterized by canes having 8 to 12 buds after the pruning is completed.

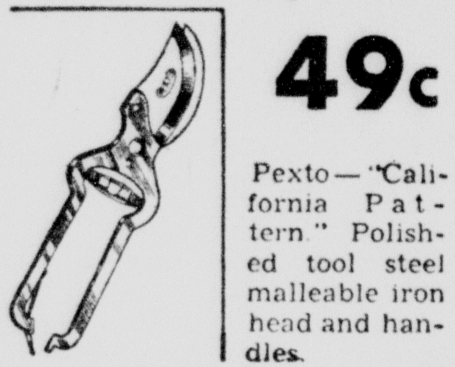

Personal preference is second in importance to productive possibilities, and should be so considered by the grower. Experimental evidence shows that the basal bud on the one-year-old wood seldom produces fruit, and also that the production of grapes increases from the second to the sixth or seventh bud. Then the production decreases gradually until the twelfth bud is reached.

With this knowledge of grape vine production, growers should prune their vines by the long cane method. In this way the largest number of productive buds are retained. To secure the greatest production, vines should be pruned to canes carrying 8 to 12 buds each. The canes selected should be those that previous to pruning were 6 to 8 feet long. This will result in stronger buds and the elimination of the so-called "bull" canes.

IT IS TIME TO BEGIN THE VEGETABLE GARDEN

It takes from 8 to 12 weeks to grow good vegetable plants and 10 weeks is a good average. The earliest plants are started in houses the last week in January. During February and early March these plants are transferred to coldframes and finally to the garden or field in April and May.

Where greenhouses are not available hotbeds may be used to grow plants but the seed is usually sown about three weeks later. The seedlings may be transplanted or thinned to several plants to the inch. Still others start a few plants in

Sees Dictatorship Proposal In Move Made By Roosevelt

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Norman C. Norman, unsuccessful appellant in the "gold-clause" ruling of the supreme court, today declared that President Roosevelt's message on the federal judiciary has led him to consider withdrawal of another case he now has pending before the high tribunal.

Norman has attacked the Social Security Act in a case before the supreme court.

Characterizing the president's suggestions as "the most astounding proposal" to reach congress in the nation's history, Norman said:

"It is unquestionably the forerunner of an absolute dictatorship in America."

Asks Building Be Torn Down
Mayor Presents Petition To Court On Grove Street Un-completed Structure

In a petition filed with the court today, the city of New Castle through Mayor Charles E. McGrath, asks that the partially finished building at the corner of Grove and Shady avenue be declared a nuisance and that the nuisance be abated by the tearing down of the walls now standing.

The building was started by the late Frederick J. Taylor. On January 29 one of the walls collapsed and killed Taylor almost instantly. The petition sets out that the Spanish War Vets Will Have Banquet

Event To Take Place On Next Saturday—Dr. C. C. Green Will Preside

Dr. Clyde C. Green, superintendent of schools, and a member of the Fifteenth Regiment during the Spanish American war, will be master of ceremonies at the annual turkey banquet of the Spanish American War Veterans, Saturday evening, February 13.

The banquet is for those who served in this war, together with the members of their families and widows of Spanish War veterans and will no-doubt be largely attended.

The committee having the affair in charge has arranged for a number of interesting events for the occasion and the banquet should be most enjoyable.

The program for the evening will include a short talk by B. K. Thacker, who served in the navy during the war. He will tell of some of his most interesting experiences during the trouble with Spain as the navy played a most important part in bringing victory to the American forces.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath, has kindly consented to relate his experiences also during this trouble, which will be most interesting.

At the meeting of the Spanish American War veterans Monday evening at the Legion Home, arrangements for the banquet will be completed.

Hit-Run Driver Crashes Porch At Walmo Yesterday

The home of Mrs. Frank Haydon at Walmo was damaged at noon Friday by a hit-and-run driver, who failed to make the curve in turning from the Wilmington road into Maitland Lane.

After destroying the foundation of the front porch and knocking the pillars and floor of the porch into a lurching angle the driver hastily examined his car and drove out of the front yard and away as fast as the little black coupe could carry him. However, he did not go so fast that members of the family were unable to get his license number. Unless he appears soon to remedy the damage proceedings will be instituted against him.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Hopkins Stands Out During Flood

Believes In Taking Care Of Immediate Emergency And Letting Future Care For Itself

IS CONTRASTED WITH OTHER MEN

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Chief Harry L. Hopkins of WPA was made to order to meet such emergencies as relief of the thousands of sufferers from this year's floods. Admiral Cary T. Grayson of the Red Cross, Gen. Malin Craig of the United States army, Gen. Edward M. Markham of the engineers, and Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., of the federal public health service, all functioned admirably, but not with quite the spectacular 100 per centedness of Harry L. Hopkins. Admirals Grayson, Generals Craig and Markham and Dr. Parran are counted on to be the acme of efficiency anyway. Hopkins' efficiency has not invariably been taken so much for granted.

BORN TO WELFARE
WPA Director Hopkins, in short, was born to be a welfare worker in tremendous crises. He isn't much of an economist. Given a long-time problem to deal with and he tries to deal with it as if a rather brief period of distress only were to be relieved. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' policy is to administer relief so that it never will have to be administered again—to improve broad general conditions permanently. Hopkins' policy is to administer it "right now" and let the future take care of itself.

WHICH IS BETTER?

Folk with a vision into the far hereafter have inclined to regard the Ickes' philosophy as the more constructive of the two and to criticize Hopkins' as merely ephemeral.

There is much to be said on Ickes' side. In semi-normal times perhaps it has the better of the argument.

But in times of intense stress? Then the Ickes' program is a bit too slow; posterity may benefit by it, but not the immediate victims of some catastrophe.

Immediately is what Harry Hopkins has in mind. Immediately—in this flood situation!

Good gosh! Neither army, Red Cross nor public health service has been as immediate as Hopkins has been. And long time conservation has been a slow poke. Hopkins, in this emergency, has been Johnny-on-the-spot.

A MATTER OF OPINION
Knowing and liking John L. Lewis, head of the sit-down strike movement, I have said that I think he is a downright labor genius. Geniuses don't always "get away with it." But, because I have said that I think he is a genius, I have a half-bushful of letters, saying that he is a "kicker" and that I, too, must be one.

A SILENT ORATOR
It is a strange thing that Senator William J. Bulow, reputed to be the wittiest orator in South Dakota, never had said a word on Capitol Hill except to answer to his name at roll call in nearly two terms.

The answer, I understand, is that he doesn't care "shucks" for Capitol Hill's opinion. All he cares for is what his constituents think.

He reads the South Dakota papers; not the east's.

On Court House Hill

For the purpose of protesting against the Erie ripper bill which would deprive Lawrence county of one of its judges, the committee appointed by President J. Clyde Gilfillan of the Bar association will go to Harrisburg the week of February 27.

The bill is in committee in the state senate now and a public hearing will be held for the purpose of acquainting the committee with the facts in the case. If the committee of the local bar association can convince the committee of the truth of the matter it is possible that the bill may be held in committee. The committee is headed by ex-Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand.

Letters of administration have been issued to Elizabeth Klenzing as executrix in the estate of John Klenzing, late of Pulaski township, who died November 20, 1936.

Letters of administration have been issued to Mary Reed Woods as executrix in the estate of Viola Hope Reed, late of North Beaver township, who died January 13, 1937.

Letters testamentary have been issued to Louis Gunton as executor in the estate of Lynda D. Gunton, late of New Castle, who died January 28, 1937.

Earl Cox, who has been in charge of the Agricultural Conservation office for some time, has left to accept a position in Bessemer. At the present time the office is in charge of a secretary but there is little work to do. The program for the year has not yet been announced by the government and until such time as it is, farmers can not very well sign up. The office handles the work of signing up farmers who fertilize their land according to the government formula. Those farmers who do so on land used by soil depleting crops are paid an acreage fee. Last year there were about 450 farmers in Lawrence county who signed up. All but about 50 were paid.

Figures for the work of the welfare department have been completed by E. O. Reed, who is in charge of the department. The figures, as of December 31, 1936, show that the city-county home had 115 guests in it as against 152 at the same time in 1935. Mental hospitals there are 293 persons who are paid for out of the poor funds. December 31, 1935, there were 314. There are eight mothers eligible for mothers' assistance as of December 31, 1936, as against 12 a year ago. For old age assistance there were 135 eligible on December 31, as against 199 a year ago. For blind pensions, 20 were eligible as against five a year ago. Eligible for the state emergency relief were 95 as against 91 a year ago. Cases ineligible for any of the above named classes 542, as against 485 a year ago. The total receiving out door relief was 781 as against 793 a year ago. There are now about 475 relief cases receiving assistance.

County Commissioner Joseph Hanon is the latest county official to go down with grip. Both he and Commissioner George H. Bolinger are out and Commissioner Floyd L. Cotton is just recuperating from an operation for appendicitis.

The matter of care of mentally ill people is beginning to be a worry for Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard. At the present time he has five cases in the jail, one in the padded cell. At least one other case is scheduled to come in. The state institutions will not receive any more cases until they get new buildings or some of the present cases are discharged. One case recently received was a violent one. Chief Deputy Ben Hartland felt the force of the poor fellow's wrath. He first landed a straight right to Hartland's jaw and then tried to tear a couple of fingers off him.

Arrangements are being made by the bar association for a memorial service which will be held within a short time for attorneys and county officials who have died. The exercises will be held in open court.

"Headlines" Net To Date Is $575

Report Is Almost Complete; Underprivileged Lads Will Benefit

The Kiwanis club will realize almost $575 from the benefit show, "Headlines", given by a large community cast at the Cathedral on January 21 and 22, President Thomas L. Paden reported today. Mr. Paden said the completed financial report will not be ready until next week's meeting of the club. "The profit of $575 will go to finance our work among underprivileged boys throughout 1937," Mr. Paden stated. "Kiwanis has kept its work among the unfortunate boys moving right along, and we'll keep up that work this year. The club finds the cases where help is needed and then takes action. Kiwanis thanks the citizens for their splendid support of the recent show."

John H. Miller, Of Sharon, Suffers Broken Leg When Struck By Auto Truck

Mrs. P. V. Ryhal, of 456 Moore avenue, has received word that her brother, John H. Miller, of Sharon, is again in the hospital, suffering from injuries. Mr. Miller, who is a deaf mute, had just been released from Buhi hospital, where he was treated from injuries received when struck by a train. Several days ago, he was crossing a street in Sharon with his dog when he was struck by a truck, driven by Michael Nicastro, of Farrell, suffering a fracture of the right leg. The driver claimed he did not see Mr. Miller as he swerved his truck to avoid striking the dog.

NEW CASTLE HIGH DEFEATS ELLWOOD CITY 32 TO 16

Locals Display Scoring Power

New Castle High Registers Sixth Victory In Section Three Friday Night

NOCERA-ADAMS HIGH SCORERS

New Castle high school basketball team defeated Ellwood City high here last night at the Washington high floor 32 to 16 in a Section Three encounter. It was the sixth victory of the league for the red and blacks against three defeats.

The New Castles went into the lead in the first few seconds of play when Adams dropped in a long one and soon it was 8 to 0, with Koszela and Strausbaugh also caging baskets, and with Adams and Koszela making fouls. Ellwood City scored at this juncture on a foul by Houserman. At the end of the first period the score was 11 to 2.

New Castle Leads. At halftime the score favored the New Castles 18 to 9. Adams, Koszela and Nocera piled in the field goals for the locals and Stasic and Mack did the scoring for the Ellwoods.

New Castle jumped away to a commanding 21 to 9 lead as the third period began, and it was 21 to 14 at the end of the second period. Nocera and Strausbaugh did the scoring for the Castles.

Ellwood was held to two more points in the final period, the game ending 32 to 16. Snizek, Nocera, Adams and Strausbaugh all had a hand in the scoring in the final stanza.

Koszela Looks Good. In picking out the star performers of the evening we must mention the work of this young Koszela boy, who is only about five feet tall, but he sure knows his basketball, and he scored five of the points besides playing a fine floor game. Another chap who covered himself with glory was Paul Small at a guard. Of course the high point man was Nocera with 10, while "Pop" Adams caged with eight points and a kicked in with eight points and a fine game, and Eddie "Bus" Strausbaugh hobbling on two bad ankles managed to get in seven points.

Houserman and Stasic were the best bets in the Ellwood City lineup as far as scoring was concerned, but this boy Mack did a lot of fine guarding, and in addition got himself three of the points.

Next Tuesday New Castle will play at Aliquippa. Between halves of the main game last night three Ellwood City boys, Bert Cable and the Morrison brothers, Bob and Gale, did a lot of plain and fancy tumbling that was very pleasing to the eye. The boys really know their stuff.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Washington and Jefferson joined Juniata college in basketball last night at Huntington, 43 to 25, which made the fourth defeat for Juniata this season. The Red and Black took a four to one lead in the opening minute of play, which aided by the sensational shooting of Keamette and Laughlin, maintained a lead that was never threatened. The defense of Washington-Jefferson kept Juniata away from the basket, and they were forced to do their scoring from the middle of the floor. Jeanette and Laughlin, the former a forward and latter a guard, each scored 13 points. At Villanova, Geneva conquered Villanova 25 to 21. Milanovich scored 11 points for Geneva. At Grove City George Peck kept up his scoring and earned 19 points which had plenty to do with the Crimson's defeat of Thiel, 40 to 29. The lead zigzagged several times in the first half which found Grove City leading 23 to 21. Bierbach and Clare led a spurt that put Thiel in the lead 23 to 27 early in the second half, but through the efforts of G. and A. Peatch it was wiped out. The Fairmont, W. Va. team lost to West Virginia Wesleyan at Fairmont, 44 to 40. It was the second time in 13 years that the Bobcats defeated Fairmont on their own floor. Williams scored 20 points through eight field goals and four successful throws from the free throw line.

Milrose A. C. of New York will hold their indoor meet at Madison Square Garden tonight. Don Lash, Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke, Archie Roman and Charles Feiske will compete in the mile event. Three Olympic title-holders, Earle Meadows, pole vaulter, Cornelius Johnson, high jumper and John Woodruff, 800 meter runner, will compete in the games.

Jake Schaefer took a lead of 337 points over Willie Hoppe as he won the eighth round of their 2,500 point 182 ball game match, 259 to 179 last night at Chicago. The score is now Schaefer 2,000 and Hoppe 1,663.

High Reserves Trim Ellwood

The New Castle High Reserves headed the Ellwood City High Reserves a 27 to 18 defeating last night in the preliminary game at Washington High. The Castletons led throughout the entire battle. Scoring stars of the game were: Marvin with seven points, Noga with six points and Molsko with four points. For the Ellwoods the work of Robuck and DeBortoli was the best.

Bethany Meets Titans Tonight

Westminster Seeks To Even Score Of Victories For Present Season

LINEUP STRONGER THAN FIRST GAME

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 6.—A determined-to-win Westminster Titan team will face Bethany College tonight, February 6, with an early season 44-34 defeat to make up for. With Backus in the Westminster lineup, however, Coach Geo. Roark, former Bison himself expects to set his old Alma Mater down.

Coach Knight of the Bison squad will have two strong offensive scorers, however, in Captain Jack Baldwin and Earl Kleivins, Baldwin, the only senior on the Bison squad, is a consistent scorer, although his game has been thrown off some through a football injury to his arm. Kleivins, who scored 22 points against the Titans on the Bison floor, has a total of 91 points in five games for an average of better than 16 points a game. It will be up to Krivosh and Grubb, Titan guards, to put the clamps on Kleivins.

If the Titans play as well as they did against Pitt earlier this week, they should be able to take care of the Bisons, and have a margin at the end. On the other hand, the Titan floor is not enough larger than Bethany's court to really worry the Knights.

The game will give Demo, Gilliland and Krivosh a chance to return to the scoring column about the 10 points a game mark. Gilliland especially has taken a slump in the scoring column with his best night, 12 points, registered against Slippery Rock early in the season.

In the starting lineup for the Titans will be Demo and Gilliland at forwards; Backus at center, and Krivosh and Grubb at guards. Starting for the Bisons will be Funk and Kleivins at forwards; Burger at center; and Baldwin and Mihalik, guards.

Washington Wins From Mahoning

Carrollmen Obtain Revenge For Earlier Defeat Of Season

Smarting over the thoughts of having been defeated earlier in the season by Mahoning, the George Washington Junior high floor team yesterday afternoon on their own court administered a 23 to 13 defeat to their Seventh ward rivals. Carey and Goodman were the high scorers for the victors while Covelli and Thomas played an excellent defensive game. Howard and Adamo earned nine of Mahoning's 13 points.

In the first period Washington, V. Kelly and Thomas supplied the field goals while Howard came through with two points for Mahoning. In the second period little scoring was accomplished, by either team. Thomas made one mark from the free throw line for Washington which resulted in the first half ending five to four in favor of the Presidents.

Following a much needed pep talk by Coach Dan Carroll, Washington came back strong in the third period. Goodman dropped in two successive field goals and V. Kelly and Carey each came through with two points from the field. Howard and Tommelto turned in two field goals and a point from the free throw line, respectively. The third period ended 13 to nine in Washington's favor.

Pete Carey brought the spectators to their feet in the fourth period with three field goals in succession and Goodman and Covelli came through with the other two, running up Washington's score another 10 points, to 23. Evans and Adamo of Mahoning dropped in field goals for four more points which found the score 23 to 13 when the whistle ended the conflict.

County Council Meeting Wednesday

Members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Council will have an important meeting at the "Y" next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting will be to give instructions to Rosy White, council delegate to the State Federation of Sportsmen's session at Harrisburg.

The Lawrence county men have many protests to enter at the state meeting.

Aliquippa-Butler Win In Section

Aliquippa just about sewed up the section three W. P. I. A. L. floor race last night at Beaver Falls by taking a 23 to 21 victory in a thriller. The "Quips" are undefeated to date.

The Butler high team swamped the Ambridge high boys at Butler, 31 to 20, in a reversal of the first game played between these two teams.

Whatever happened to the pulchritudine, an invention that might have been expected to determine definitely whether beauty is only skin deep?

Keystone Jrs. Take Title In Boy's League

Defeat Boyles A. C. 23 To 15 In Playoff Game For First-Half Title Friday Night

The Keystone A. C. Juniors won the championship of the first half of the Boys' A. A. league at the Y. M. C. A. floor on Friday night by defeating the Boyles A. C. team 23 to 15 in the playoff game.

The end of the first period it was 5-5, and at the halfway mark it stood at 10-10. It was in the third and fourth periods that the Keys, led by Ray Kelly and Santangelo, took the lead and held it throughout the two remaining stanzas. Coach Vinnie Gallagher was well pleased with the coveted victory.

For the Boyles A. C. the playing of Micaletti and Johns was far the best.

In the second game on the menu the Third U. P. team eked out a 36 to 32 victory over the House-Seniors of the Indus league, with Kimmel the scoring star of the game with 20 of the points. He was paced by "Flash" Robinson with 10 of the points for the House-Seniors, while Steve Teplica had nine points.

Section 21 Race Deadlocked Today

Wampum-Bessemer Tied For Coveted Honors As Result Of Upset

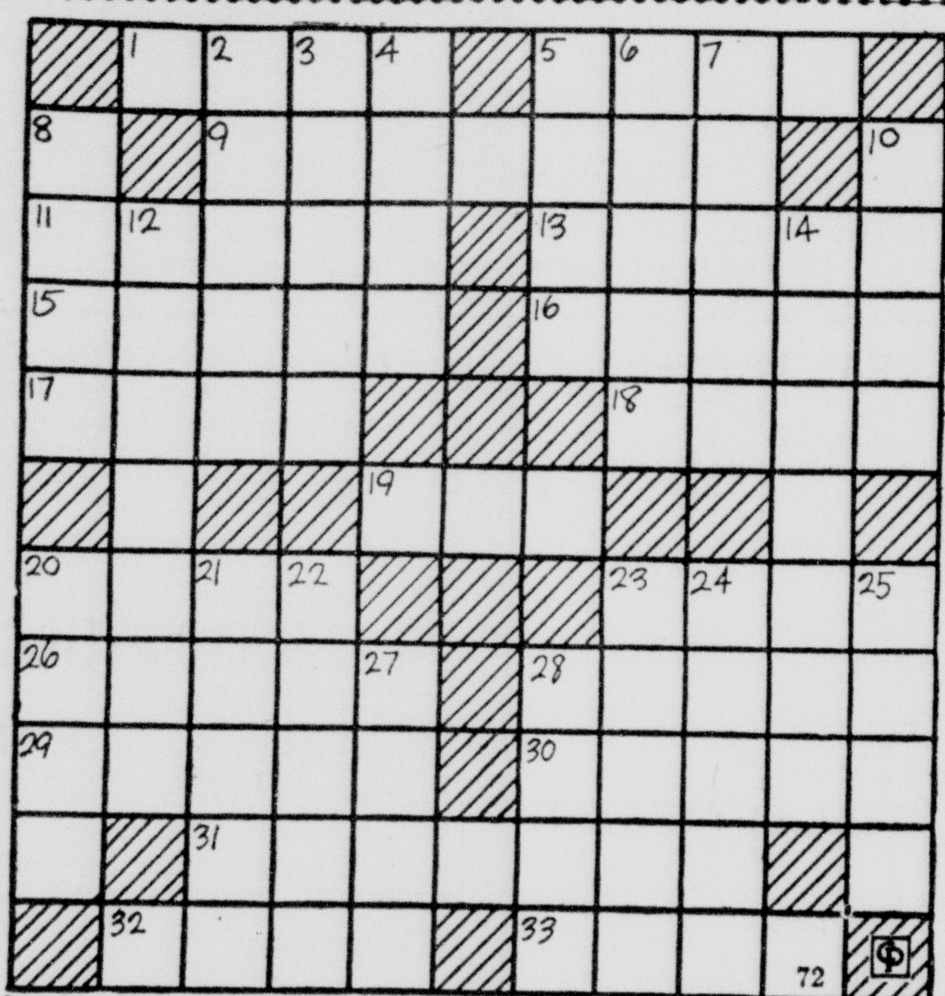

By virtue of Mt. Jackson's surprising victory over Bessemer Friday night, 25-21, the leadership of section 21 of the W. P. I. A. L. is tied between Wampum and Bessemer.

New Wilmington, serving notice of its strength during the last two weeks, kept right in the thick of the fight by nosing out Union, 22-21. One of the most important battles, next week brings together Mt. Jackson and New Wilmington, at Mt. Jackson Tuesday night. Wampum added another triumph to its list Friday, scoring over Princeton Shenango dropped to East Brook in another surprise in the league, 20-15.

Louisville Homes Reported Looted

Several Square Blocks Of Flooded Homes Systematically Looted

THIEVES MUST HAVE OPERATED IN BOATS

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 6.—Human depravity at its worst—looting in the midst of catastrophe—was revealed today as the ruins of Louisville continued to emerge from receding flood waters.

Several square blocks of the most sorely stricken section of the city were "systematically looted" by experts while the raging waters which drove 200,000 from their homes were at their height, it was revealed.

Police called this section "systematically looted" because it was obvious that the robbers had worked up and down both sides of the streets, entering every house and taking everything portable of value while owners shivered in refugee camps.

The thieves apparently operated in boats—boats sorely needed in rescue work at the time. Thus the evidence left by their pillage was completely covered for days until the flood waters receded.

Two looters were shot and killed,
with the sanction of authorities,
during the days of horror which saw 80 per cent of the homes all or partially submerged, one officer said,
and another agreed.

"Yes, there was lots of looting."
There was also considerable "jegitimate looting". A fireman explained:

"We didn't have time to get an order while saving women and babies, and where they needed food, one man's store was as good as another."

Big Difference In Weather Shown

Temperatures And Precipitation
Show Big Contrast Over
Last Year's Figures

Nothing seems quite as changeable as the weather, and the contrast between weather conditions
this January and those of January 1936 was more than noticeable, the figures of U. S. Weather Observer
B. F. Johnson reveal.

The mean temperature in January this year was 35 degrees, seven degrees over the normal for January which is 28 degrees, while the total precipitation was 7.11 inches, which is 4.09 inches in excess of the normal of 3.02 inches. This is the greatest precipitation ever recorded locally in January since weather records have been kept here, starting in 1870.

January of 1936 came close to duplicating weather conditions experienced this year, the temperature being even warmer with an excess of 11 degrees per day over the normal, and a precipitation of 6.22 inches. The precipitation was spread out more, however.

In January 1936, the precipitation was .65 inches below the normal, and the temperature was five degrees below the normal per day.
The mean maximum this year was 43.5 degrees, the mean minimum,
26.5 degrees, and the mean or average, 35. The normal mean for January is 28 degrees. The highest temperature was 67 degrees on the 9th, and the lowest was 11 degrees on the 24th. Last year, the highest temperature was 48 degrees and the lowest 13 degrees below zero.

The greatest precipitation in 24 hours was 1.24 inches. Days with
.01 or more of precipitation were 17, days clear, five; partly cloudy, 11;
and cloudy, 15. Snowfall in January this year totaled 4.4 inches, while last year it totaled 13.1 inches. In January of 1920, only an inch of precipitation was recorded, it being the driest on record here. January of 1933 was next with 1.20 inches.

Falcons To Play Tin Mill Team

The Polish Falcons will play the Carnegie-Illinois Steel quintet at the Falcon floor on Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Russ
Kawa today. The Falcon Reserves will play the preliminary game at 1:30 o'clock. There is considerable rivalry between the Tin Mill boys and the Falcons and the game is bound to be humdinger.

K. Pulaski Team To Play Sunday

The K. Pulaski basketball team will play the St. Mary's of Beaver Falls at the K. of P. hall on Sunday afternoon, it was announced by Teddie Kolec, the business manager, today. The K. P. Reserves will play a strong team in the preliminary game at 1:30 o'clock.

NEWTON SIGNS AT NORTH CAROLINA

(International News Service)
RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 6.—William
"Doc" Newton, for the past five years football coach at Davidson college, will succeed Hunk Anderson as head coach at North Carolina State.
Athletic authorities announced late yesterday that Newton had signed a five-year contract calling for an annual salary of $6,000. Anderson, whose three-year contract expired December 31, reportedly received $10,000 annually.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEFALL

What a crowd, and what a time . . . everyone had a fine time last night . . . if you missed the Community Red Cross Party last night you missed the biggest party that New Castle has ever given . . . a record crowd attended and I think we are safe in saying that every one had the time of their life . . . the show in the auditorium was something to talk about and was just the thing to start a party with . . . at 9 o'clock the tide went to the lower regions, and here is where the fun became interesting . . . You could eat, dance, play bingo, and in the extreme lower regions the adults were entertained with games of chance . . . Folks of New Castle, you did a wonderful job, and your brothers in the South won't forget you . . . they can't say that New Castle is asleep now . . . It is said by one who can count that the crowd numbered 3,500.

All right, Mrs. Frank J. Schick, you win, the word wasn't even in my dictionary. I must have been thinking of some other word . . . although it has been accepted in newspaper circles with one "P".

This question has been going around a popular store on the east side . . . Who is Howard? . . . It seems that a certain young lady has been taking a terrible guying about this Howard . . . my advice, young lady, is to introduce Howard to Charlie.

Scout Week starts today . . . why not attend every entertainment you have a chance . . . this is a great organization and has built many a strong mind and body.

Every Civic club that has a scout troop should plan to visit them this coming week . . . The Rotary club is taking its meeting to the scouts Monday . . . why not have your club or group plan a similar affair . . . the Boy Scouts will be glad to accept a dinner invitation anytime.

WORTHY MATRON IS HONORED BY EASTERN STAR

Mrs. Frank Painter Is Guest Of Honor At Annual Banquet
Friday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—It was a gala night Friday in the First Presbyterian church when the local O. E. S. honored its worthy matron, Mrs. Frank Painter.

Covers were laid for 157 in the dining room of the church which was beautifully decorated in the Valentine colors with a red and white color scheme.

Throughout the serving appropriate dinner music and vocal selections were provided by an orchestra. Mrs. Hazel Adams, junior past matron, who was in charge of the evening's entertainment, presided as toastmistress on the occasion. She welcomed the visitors and special guests in a gracious manner. Witty and proper toasts were given to the worthy matron, Mrs. Frank Painter, the district deputy, officers and members. Those giving toasts were the Mesdames Ruth Dean, Edith Moore, Inez Steinberger, Estella Haines, Elsie Harris, Pernelle McCleary and Laura Kirk. Clever and appropriate responses were made to these toasts.

A splendid program followed. Jack and Ann Butler rendered a duet number accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Ed. Butler. Then there was a play, "Henry Where Are You?" presented by the Public Speaking Class of the local high school under the direction of Miss Beatrice B. Brunton. One of the features of the evening was a short program presented by the Girls' Glee Club of Geneva College which consisted of readings and music. Helen Downing gave a reading entitled "Au Revoir—Goodbye." "Living Valentines" were portrayed with each officer being presented in a large valentine heart with appropriate valentine verse to each by Mrs. Adams. The pages for this event were Mesdames Ann Goehring and Dorothy Young; marshals, Elizabeth Con and Ethel Hancher.

The special guests for this event were Worthy Matron Mrs. Frank Painter, the honor guest, Mrs. Ethel Gillespie of Allegheny who is the district deputy, Mrs. Kathryn McLaughlin of Beaver and Mrs. Mary Beisel of New Castle.

Class Honors
Mrs. Edw. Cain

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Misses Mabel and Katherine Durnell were pleasing hostesses on Thursday evening when they entertained members of the Willing Workers class of the Wurtemburg United Presbyterian church at their home at Wurtemburg.

Following the devotional period a business meeting was held, with plans being made for class activities.

Mrs. Edward Cain (Mildred Durnell) a member of the class and a recent bride, was pleasantly surprised at this time when she was presented with an array of very lovely and useful gifts for use in her new home.

An informal social period followed, with the hostesses serving tastefully appointed refreshments. The place of the next meeting was not determined.

Rod And Gun Club
Will Meet Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Ellwood City Rod and Gun Club will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Schweizer hall.

The feature of the evening will be a talk by Pete Krass of Carnegie, who will give an illustrated talk with moving pictures. Mr. Krass has been here before and will be remembered as an entertaining and instructive speaker. A record turnout is anticipated for this meeting which is open to all sportsmen.

S. of V. Auxiliary
Meets Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Sons of Union Veterans Auxiliary of this city held its regular meeting last night in the V. F. W. hall on Fourth street with a fair attendance present.

Plans were formulated for a Washington party to be held on February 19. They also plan to visit the New Castle lodge next Wednesday night. After transacting a few routine matters the auxiliary adjourned to meet again in two weeks.

ELLPORT BOARD

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—This evening members of the Ellport borough school board will hold their regular February business meeting in the Bend schoolhouse.

The council will also meet this evening at seven o'clock in the basement of the Magyar Presbyterian church.

Many Routine Reports Heard
At Regular Session Of Council Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Ellwood City Industrial Basketball League will again swing into action of its second round with two scheduled games tonight at the Shelby auditorium.

The customary entertainment has been arranged for between the games and a dance later. In the first game the Office team which has dropped two games will meet the improved Frisco cagers. The latter have started to click and may take the measure of the favorite Office quintet. A change has been made in the schedule and it is probable that the flashy finishing Titans will meet the league leaders, Mechanicals, who are undefeated to date. Finishing hopes to gain revenge at this time.

Additional parking signs will be placed on Chestnut Way, Bell avenue, Border avenue, the alley near the Shelby Clubhouse, Clyde street, near the Tube Mill at Burnstown. Council also approved the placing of a light on Bell avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets.

New Castle District Having Successful Conference At Ellwood City Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Free Methodist church of Ellwood City has been a scene of intense activity the last few days. The New Castle district is holding its quarterly conference here with Bishop L. R. Marston of Greenville, Ill., presiding.

The conference began last Thursday with record turnouts from Oil city, New Castle, Ellwood, and other places. Bishop Marston has been conducting a two weeks revival campaign here and will end the district conference on Sunday. A. J. Hill will speak in the morning and Bishop Marston in the afternoon and night.

One of the features of the conference was a splendid program of music by a quartet from North Chiles, N. Y.

The borough secretary was instructed by council to check with the local J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion about the moving of the Legion Memorial Table on Lawrence avenue to their property on Spring avenue and Fourth street which is known as Legion Memorial Park.

The request of Secretary E. B. Moyer for approval of advertising for bids in three papers on the grading, equipment and other necessary things for the new city building was granted by Council.

Secretary Moyer announced that there has been no reply to date from the Harmony Short Line Company on the matter of purchasing the "Right of Way" in Ewing Park.

The Police committee of Council and Burgess were instructed to make a better disposition of the harmful pan-handling situation in the city.

Council will hold a special meeting in the near future upon the call of President A. J. Howell.

Emma Schaffner
Class Assembles

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Emma Schaffner class of the Immanuel Reformed church held its regular meeting Friday night at the home of Mrs. Fred Tanner on Park avenue with eight present.

Routine matters were transacted at a short business meeting which was followed by a social time and refreshments. Mrs. Betty Thomas assisted in serving. A white elephant sale was also held at this time. The class will meet again on the first Friday in March.

January Class
Has Fine Dance

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—January graduating class of 1937 held a fine dance Friday evening in the beautiful new ballrooms of the local Elks lodge on Crescent avenue. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening to the popular melodies of a local orchestra. Refreshments were enjoyed later.

SHOWER EVENT
ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, whose marriage was an event of October 8, 1936, were recently given a shower by a group of their friends.

The bride was Mrs. Mary Cook of North Sewickley township and their marriage took place in Christ Lutheran church of Beaver Falls, with Rev. Richard Booth performing the ceremony.

WURTEMBERG W. C. T. U.
ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—The Wurtemburg W. C. T. U. will hold a business meeting Monday 7 p. m. in the Wurtemburg M. E. church instead of the regular meeting which was to have been at the home of Mrs. Percy Wright. This arrangement so as not to interfere with the meetings being held at the Methodist church.

FIREMEN'S AUXILIARY
ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 6.—Firemen's Auxiliary of this city will hold its regular meeting Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Firemen's Hall on Sixth street. The members are requested to wear their uniforms to this meeting.

Even Bleakness Has Its Charms

FRIENDS HELP TO FILL COLUMN

By O. O. MINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—This is a day mired in melancholy—a day of gloom and a time to read something by Julian Green. Or sing that Budapest suicide song. The skies are chafed with sullen tatters of gray, weeping in a steady, clinging mistral. Not even a log fire cheers.

Yet there is an illogical charm in bleakness. Thoughts like feathers drift into sombre shifts, obscuring vision, clogging hope. The occasional church bell accentuates a solemnity at such a time.

O. O. McIntyre Many of us like to wallow in a fog that hides the sun. But in the depth of such a dolor it is a nip of a score to swing a column from grave to gay. Weather affects writing just as any other trade. Harry Burton tells me that manuscripts written in the autumn are usually rust tinted. Spring brings out the sparkling love story, the halcyon vision.

A bright young lady has helped me hurdle the day's gloom by her written account of a visit to the dentist. Before she departed for what she calls a "fang yanking" she was given a sinful, ginnifer, chinful to aid her poise and render her more acquiescent.

She arrived at the waiting room feeling high and cramping with conversation but also waiting for a couple of dour dames who, she suspected, never knew anything came out of bottles but milk and castor oil. She felt a snip that passes in the night. After a long silence during which she made a misrearch for a three year old copy of Field and Stream on the table and almost went to the floor, she decided to present an alibi. So clearing her throat she explained: "You must skush my seeming condishion but I'm going to have some teeth distracted. dentist doesn't give gin so taken I gas at home." They listened swapped knowing glances and said nothing, eloquently.

She was for getting on a chair and reciting the Wreck of the Hesperus when the dentist's assistant, thoughtful gal, motioned her in. There she relaxed and felt in fine conversational fettle but the doctor so quickly filled her mouth with ding-bats she had no chance to display what real wit was. It was like one of those evenings out when one wants to do the talking and finds the conversation general.

By that time the dentist's assistant with the sphinxic expression—and in her letter she suddenly interjected: "Try saying sphinxic expression next New Year's heave!"—announced the doctor was ready. And it was too true—ready with horns, pitchfork and a tank of gas.

He told her to breathe deep and tossed in a playful remark. And she went for a couple of inhales smack to the heels. Curtain! And when she came floating, la la back on gauzy sapphire wings she heard a far away voice murmuring: "Expectorate here! You are all right. Expectorate here!" In reality he was standing on her right pointing to that cup hitched to the torture chair on the left. And she let fly to the right.

Blood will tell, she chuckled in a re-telling, and the dentist was certainly an Ethiopian's dream of how an Italian should look at the end of a perfect fray. This happened two days ago and she is convinced come Monday he'll have a phonograph record made of "Expectorate here", to turn on when other gassed victims swim up to reality. Thus did a realist crack the haze of a miasmaic morning.

A helpful caller in turning out a column was Hattie Belle Johnston who told of an interesting observation on a recent trip to Russia. The late Czar Nicholas II believed in the luck of finding a horseshoe. The origin, now universal, is an old Polish superstition dating to days when Poland, rich and affluent, dispatched couriers to foreign lands on mounts shod with golden horseshoes. Peasants followed holding a horse might throw a shoe. Anyway tacked over the door of the Czar's private entrance to the palace at Yalta is a rusty iron shoe which he found on the royal grounds during a meander one day. To insure real luck the horseshoe should always be placed with the opening at the top. But the Czar's was hung upside down so that unhappily the luck trickled out. Kismet.

Buried Eight Days In A Mine!

Robert Johnson Dog led rescue party to Johnson

After having been buried eight days in an abandoned coal mine, Robert Johnson, 24-year-old mail carrier was rescued at Flemington, W. Va., and removed to a hospital at nearby Clarksburg—safe despite his harrowing experience. Johnson had gone to the mine to dig coal for sale to neighbors and had become lost in the labyrinth of passages. The dog pictured above with Johnson aided the rescue party in locating the lost mail carrier.

Christian, Methodist And Presbyterian Young People Have Party On Friday Evening

Gathering at the Mahoning M. E. church at 7:30 o'clock on Friday evening, members of the young people's societies of the Christian, Presbyterian and Methodist churches enjoyed a progressive party.

After playing a few "get acquainted" games which were led by Bill Emerick, the group divided and half went to the Presbyterian church and the other half to the Christian church where a program of games and entertainment had been planned.

At a later hour the young people returned to the Methodist church where a tempting lunch was served. The general committee included the following: Bob Park, Genevieve Moss, Bill Emerick, Jean Humphrey, Ruth Glenn and Ed Houk. The social committee: Myrtle Conn, Lillie Wagner, Mrs. D. C. Schnebly, Mildred Broadbush and Dorothy Humphrey.

Large Number Of Rerouted
Trains Still Going Over
B. And O. Line

Terminal Trainmaster Cable of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad stated this morning that there is still a large volume of business passing through here on the B. and O. lines, which has to be rerouted over the local tracks because of the flood in the Ohio valley.

Some of the railroad tracks were covered to a depth of 20 feet by the high waters and they are just now being uncovered. It will be impossible to run trains over these tracks until they have been thoroughly tested to make sure they are safe for traffic. Until then these trains will go through here over the tracks of the Akron division.

An Institution for Your Benefit New Castle Credit Exchange

The Credit Exchange is here to make credit accessible to those who are worthy of credit and who pay their bills promptly.

But it also protects members—leading merchants, professional men, banks and public service corporations of this community—against the careless customer who is rated "too slow to be desirable" and the outright "dead beat" who doesn't pay because he is dishonest.

At the same time it extends an earnest offer of help to all those who have been unable to meet their obligations for reasons beyond their control, and to those who have been a little careless without any willful intent.

In the office of the Credit Exchange are more than 75,000 cards. Almost everybody in this vicinity is rated. How is your credit rating?
